Small Nations Confer on Good Neighborliness

Nine U.N. Members Would Improve European Relations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Foreign ministers from nine small nations conferred today in an attempt to put new life into a U.N. call for improvement in East-West relations in Europe.

The General Assembly gave unanimous approval last year to the proposal sponsored by the nine nations representing the Warsaw Pact group, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the neutral camp.

Secretary-General U. Thant hailed the plan as a "welcome indication of the progressive ending of what has become known as the Cold War." But the proposal has lain dormant for the past 11 months.

Destroy Barriers It calls for breaking down barriers to trade and cultural relations among countries of different political systems and for a return to the spirit of good neighborliness.

The nine sponsors are Belgium and Denmark for NATO, Sweden, Finland, Austria and Yugoslavia for the nonaligned group, and Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary for the Warsaw Pact. Their foreign ministers are in New York to take part in the assembly's general policy debate.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was returning to New York today to continue talks with various foreign ministers attending the assembly. It was considered likely he would discuss the nine-nation plan which the United States has endorsed.

Physical Exams Ordered

Some Men Over 26 to be Drafted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some young men who got past their 26th birthday on draft deferments may be called to military service after all.

Selective Service confirmed Monday night that it is ordering pre-induction physical examinations for all 26-to-35-year-olds who had deferments but are now classified 1-A or 1-A-O.

The national recheck could produce about 50,000 potential draftees — about one month's quota in terms of this month's draft call.

A man's draft liability normally ends at his 26th birthday. But if he was deferred for any reason — often to continue his schooling — he is draft-eligible until age 35.

Deferments held past age 26 have in recent years meant draft exemption, because Selective Service has not inducted from the older group.

A spokesman said Monday night, however, that 28,153 men in the previously deferred 26-35 age bracket already have been found qualified for service.

Local boards were ordered in

A spokesman for Outagamie County Selective Service Board No. 53 said today there is a pool of men 26-35 years old whose 1-A and 1-A-O deferment classifications are being reviewed. No estimate of the number was available.

Those in the 1-A-O classification are conscientious objectors who are available for service but will not bear arms.

At the same time, the spokesman advised those registered with a draft board to notify same of any change in status within 10 days.

An unpublicized move two weeks ago to give physicals to the remaining 41,780 men in this does not begin curing the holiday season.

Killer Storm Crosses Up Forecasters

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez, in the 11th day of a wild rampage across the sea, attacked southeast Florida's glittering Gold Coast today with howling gales, torrential rain and wild surf.

Power lines snapped in great showers of sparks, traffic lights danced crazily and fell, and angry waves tore at the white sand beaches as the hurricane raked the coast from Fort Lauderdale to the Florida Keys.

Seawalls crumbled and crashing surf dashed across low-lying streets and highways. Rich city signs blew down and bounced across roads, a peril to the few motorists who had to be on the streets.

First Gusts Palm fronds, loose garbage cans and other small debris careened through sections exposed to the sharpest winds.

The first gust of hurricane strength, 75 miles an hour, slammed into Tavernier at the top of the chain of the Florida Keys at 8 a.m. Gales hitting a 60-mile clip hammered at the coast from Jupiter, north of Palm Beach, south to the Keys. But with top winds of only 85 miles an hour, Inez was no longer the monstrous storm she had been when she raged through the Caribbean, killing possibly hundreds.

In Key Largo, power failed at 8 a.m. Clerks in boarded hotels and bars, who had been through this many times before, tramped and lit hurricane lamps.

Out of Danger Many of the 2 million residents of the area had gone to the bed believing they were out of Mekong Delta southwest of Saigon. They awoke in the morning darkness to the napalm run against Viet Cong crashing thunder of wind and positions and was the 124th U.S. rain.

Frankly, they rigged storm shelters and rushed to stores that opened early to dispense Turn to Page 11, Col. 6

9,000 Striking GE Employees Return to Jobs at 2 Plants

Company, Union Officials Meet With Military Chiefs at Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 9,000 union employees began returning to their jobs at two General Electric Corp. plants today as the government pressed its effort to end a contract dispute that could affect the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam.

Local issues had prompted the walkouts at plants in Schenectady, N.Y., and Pittsfield, Mass. As the union employees returned to work, government and military officials arranged a Pentagon briefing for GE and union negotiators.

Eleven unions have threatened a nationwide strike in two weeks unless agreement is reached on a new contract.

Brief Officials Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the service secretaries are to brief company and union officials on what Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz calls "the vital importance of continued production at GE to the national defense."

Wirtz called the afternoon meeting a procedural session and said negotiations to end the threat of a nationwide strike against the huge defense producer will resume immediately after the talks — perhaps at the Pentagon.

GE manufactures aircraft and helicopter engines and other military items.

Johnson Request The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and 10 associated unions agreed Sunday to a request by President Johnson to postpone the strike for two weeks.

But some 20,000 of GE's 120,000 union employees walked off the job at four plants after their contracts expired at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Local union leaders said the strikes involved local issues and thus were not affected by national negotiations.

The first shift appeared for work today at GE's Schenectady, N.Y., plant where union leaders voted Monday night to end a strike that idled 23,000 employees Monday. The walkout involved 3,500 IUE members and 500 members of other unions.

Fred Borch, GE president, said after a meeting with three Cabinet officers Monday the strikers were returning to their jobs.

Monday Conference Wirtz was joined Monday by McNamara and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor in separate, hour-long conferences with company and union officials in Connor's office.

Wirtz said after the meetings that both sides agreed to the government's insistence that there be no break in the flow of munitions to the forces in Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, IUE President Paul Jennings said the major national issues in the dispute involve a contract provision for arbitration of grievances and a cost-of-living escalation clause that would protect union members against the threat of rising prices during the term of the three-year contract.

The union has indicated it would accept the company offer of a 4 per cent increase in each of the three years, but only if the escalator clause is in the pact.

'Under Control'

1,000 Dead in Civil Discord in Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—About 1,000 persons are believed dead following five days of tribal warfare in northern Nigeria, but the nation's military government claims the situation is under control.

The fighting between the northern Hausa tribe and Ibo immigrants from the eastern region erupted Wednesday and intensified over the weekend when northern soldiers and civilians massacred about 300 Ibos in the city of Kano, 520 miles north of Lagos.

Under Control Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, head of the military government, expressed grief over the violence but told a constitutional conference at Lagos that the situation was under control.

The conference was adjourned until Oct. 24.

Reports from the north said Kano was quiet Monday, with the city under a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Lt. Col. Hassan Usman Katsina, military governor of the north, reportedly has ordered army troops patrolling the city to shoot anyone caught molesting others or looting.

Better Educated The northern Hausa tribesmen fear that the eastern Ibos are trying to dominate Nigeria politically and militarily.

Many Ibos, generally better educated than the northerners, migrated to the north, where their training enabled them to dominate the skilled jobs.

Northern Nigeria has a population of about 29 million. Estimates of the Ibos there range from 300,000 to one million. Since tribal violence broke out several months ago, about 60,000 have fled back to their homeland.

Three Hurt In 'Prank' On Hayride

RIB LAKE (AP)—Three men were injured, two seriously, when three sticks of dynamite exploded on a rural road north of here during a weekend hayride party, according to Price County Sheriff Andrew Pilch.

Pilch said about 20 adults were on a long-standing annual hayride in a wagon pulled by a tractor when they spotted a "small fire" next to the road and halted to investigate. The dynamite exploded.

Bernard Strobach, 44, of Rib Lake, lost his right arm just below the elbow when the one and one-half pounds of dynamite exploded. Harvey Rhode, 50, of Rib Lake, lost the sight of his right eye. Richard Gordon, of Rib Lake, was treated at a Rib Lake clinic and released.

The explosion occurred about one mile from the intersection of Highway 102 and Price County trunk YY at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Pilch said the incident was "just a prank which backfired."

Tiger Division

From the south, units of the Korean Tiger Division pressed northward in the Phu Cat Mountains and reported killing 52 of the enemy since Sunday.

From the west, South Vietnamese infantrymen and paratroopers worked toward the sea. They reported four Viet Cong killed.

U.S. and Vietnamese patrol boats waited offshore to intercept any of the hard-pressed Communists who might try to escape by sampan.

A U.S. spokesman said he did not know the size of the enemy force. In the initial contact Sunday, U.S. cavalrymen were opposed by an estimated 300 troops but the Communist force now is known to be much larger.

One report said the North Vietnamese unit was the 610th Division.

Casualties Light U.S. casualties were reported light.

Little action was reported elsewhere in South Viet Nam.

Food Supplies Aim of New Brazilian Chief

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—President-elect Arthur da Costa e Silva began planning for his administration today, and aides said his first target would be the country's shortage of some food staples.

The aides said the career army officer, elected Monday by Congress as Brazil's 22nd president, would begin by trying to put agricultural production in order. He was reported to be particularly interested in developing cattle herds and fishing fleets.

Costa e Silva, the only candidate, pledged a program of social reform in his acceptance speech and said the nation's biggest problems centered on "the necessities of man."

Not Dictatorship A professional soldier until three months ago who inherits a government produced by a military coup, he asserted that Brazil is not a dictatorship.

Elected on his 64th birthday, Costa e Silva takes office next March 15, the same day many of the extraordinary powers assumed by his military comrade, President Humberto Castello Branco, expire. The former war minister has spoken in general terms of continuing Castello Branco's austerity program but has hinted at changes, spurring hope in some quarters for a loosening of present rigid controls.

Strike Forces Chrysler To Send 38,000 Home

DETROIT (AP)—Five days after introducing its new cars, Chrysler Corp. today took action to lay off more than 38,000 workers across the country by Thursday because of a stamping plant strike.

The nation's third-largest auto firm said it may idle virtually all its hourly rated labor force of 110,000 by the end of next week if a United Auto Workers strike is not ended at Chrysler's biggest stamping plant, in Twinsburg, Ohio.

Meanwhile, 4,350 UAW workers struck the main assembly plant of Ford Motor Co. of Canada at Oakville, Ont. Monday and 400 union members walked out of a General Motors Corp. parts depot at Livonia, Mich.

Began Monday Chrysler began plant shut-downs Monday by laying off 8,000 workers at its Hamtramck assembly plant in suburban Detroit.

Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler would be sent home at the end of their shifts today in two assembly plants at Detroit and one at Newark, Del. Another 15,000 will be laid off at the close of shifts Wednesday in assembly plants at Belvidere, Ill.; St. Louis, Mo.; and Windsor, Ont., the firm said. An additional 1,800 are slated for layoffs at the Los Angeles assembly plant at an undetermined time.

Production Crimp The shutdowns put a big crimp in Chrysler's production of 1967 models, and Townsend said the Twinsburg walkout "will benefit General Motors and Ford." The firm reported its sales in the last 10 days of September, including two days with 1967 models, were 16 per cent higher than in the same period of 1965.

The 4,350 UAW members struck the Twinsburg plant last Thursday, the day Chrysler introduced its 1967 models.

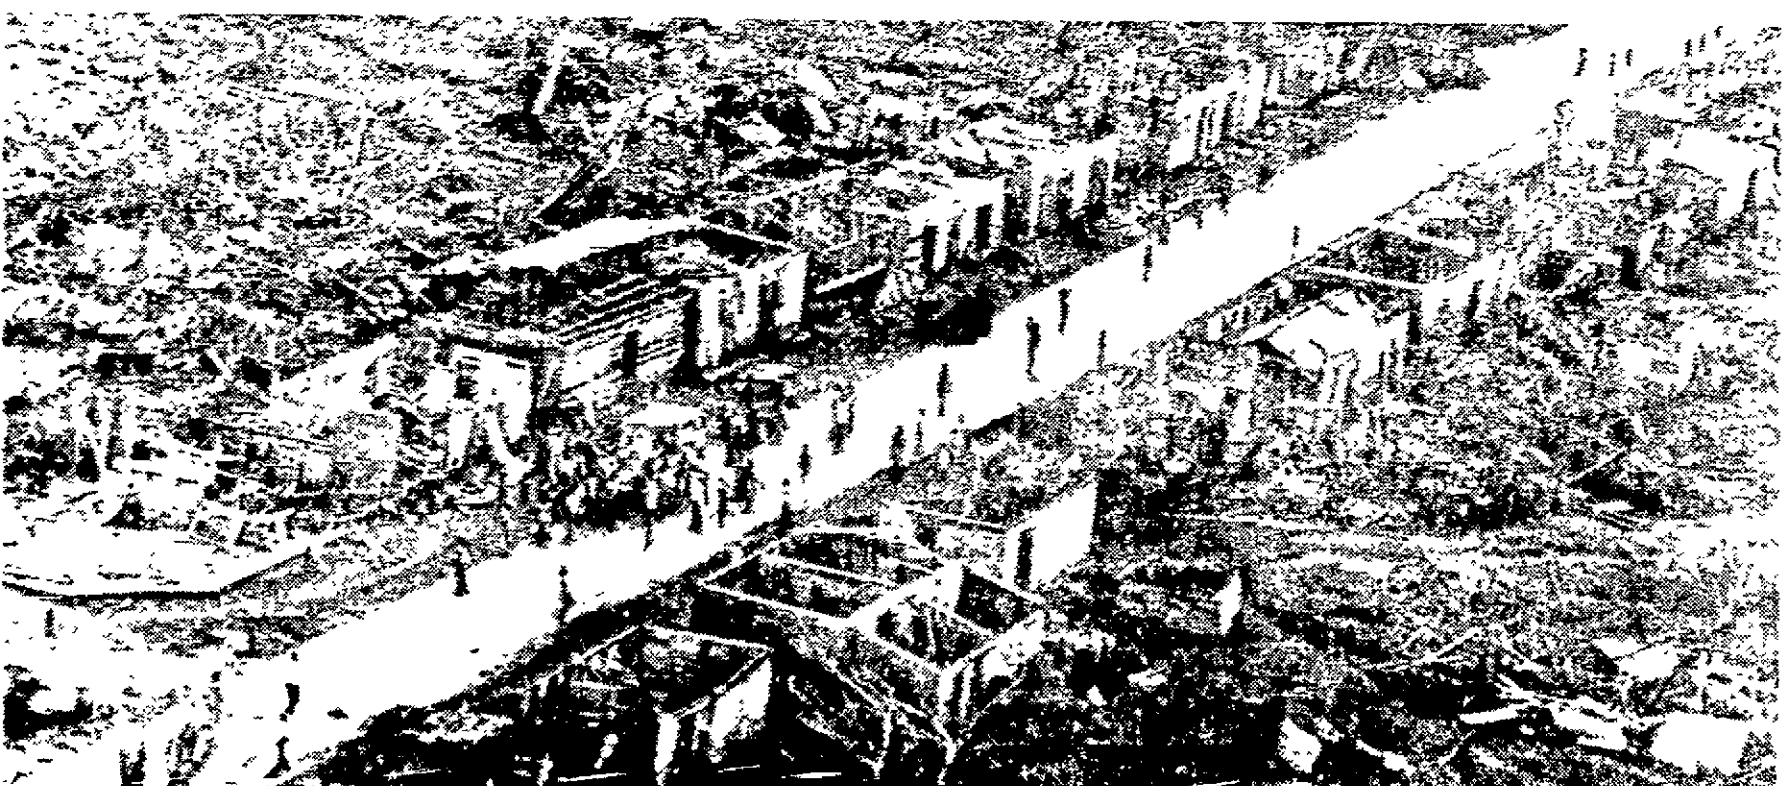

Talks were scheduled to resume today at Twinsburg in the dispute over 14 unsettled grievances involving safety and production standards.

125 Attend 10th Hearing on School Districts

Plea Given for Wisconsin Rapids As Vocational Site

STEVENS POINT — A strong plea for an area district vocational school to be placed in Wisconsin Rapids was made Monday at the 10th state-wide hearing conducted by the state vocational board and the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

More than 125 persons representing interests in Marathon, Clark, Wood, Portage, Adams and Juneau counties attended the hearing and 41 assemblymen, county board supervisors, educators and citizens were heard by the review panel.

Philip E. Lehrman, president of the State Vocational, Technical and Adult Education Board, conducted the hearing. In his opening remarks he assured those present that the criteria for vocational districts had not been changed and that boundary lines had not been drawn for the districts. For purposes of discussion a 15-district map was presented by the Area Development Committee by Fred Hiestand, acting committee chairman.

The tenor of the hearing, which Lehrman said was one of the best organized, revolved around the consensus that the intent of the law was to provide quality education for the greatest number of students — education that answers today's needs for business and industry. This may include 80 per cent of the state's high school graduates.

Wants State Support

Assemblyman Willis Hutnick, Price County, tossed the only new idea into the hearing. "Let the entire new area vocational institute program be state-supported, levy the necessary two mills from all areas, select the best sites for the schools, establish the programs and run them," he suggested.

Two more hearings will be held, one at LaCrosse today and the other at Rhinelander, Oct. 20. There will be a full report of the advisory committee of the state vocational board. On Nov. 28 the state vocational board will go to the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education with its findings. Early in December, it is hoped, a decision will be reached.

Enrollment at UW Doubles In 8 Years

MADISON (AP) — University of Wisconsin enrollment at its Madison campus, its Milwaukee campus and 11 centers throughout the state has reached a record high of 51,207, double the enrollment eight years ago.

University officials said Monday the total represents a 92 per cent increase over last year's figure. The largest growth was at the 11 centers.

The total includes 31,120 students at Madison and 14,176 at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. The university center figure of 5,911 is up 24 per cent over last year's enrollment.

The huge leap in enrollment has not affected all parts of the university, however. As a result, the 12-week portion of UW's summer session is being dropped, Chancellor Robben W. Fleming told the faculty.

The shorter eight-week summer session which had more than 10,000 students this year will be kept. But Fleming noted enrollment for the 12-week session had slipped to 900. The longer session was begun on a trial basis three years ago.

Fleming also announced a series of studies aimed at improving education in light of social "unrest which extends into the campus."

The chancellor said students are challenging whether traditional approaches automatically were correct.

Fleming said the studies include the possibilities of greater emphasis on teaching when hiring faculty members, more flexibility in studies for individual students, and more flexibility in grading.

Steelworker 'A Little Stiff' After Fall From Seventh Floor

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rubin Zufelt, a steelworker, fell four stories Friday while welding steel beams at the new Tucson City Hall.

"Suddenly everything dropped out from under me," he said. "I could see all the stuff whizzing by."

Zufelt, 32, landed on a layer of corrugated roofing on the third floor.

Monday he was back at work on the seventh floor. "I'm a little stiff," he said, "but this is the way I make my living."

Air Attacks

American air attacks on North Viet Nam were heavier than usual Monday, with U.S. pilots flying 161 bombing missions. They aimed most of their attacks at truck and water traffic and claimed destroying or damaging 95 barges, five junks and 41 trucks.

Pilots also reported their napalm and fragmentation bombs set off 54 fires and 10 secondary explosions at a storage area and transshipment point 30 miles southeast of Dong Hoi, in North Viet Nam's southern panhandle. U.S. pilots flew 427 single-plane sorties over South Viet Nam Monday. They claimed destruction or damage to 396 Viet Cong structures, huts and fortified positions.

South Vietnamese pilots flew 155 combat strikes, a spokesman said.

Work to Resume At GE Division In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Members of the United Auto Workers said they planned to resume work today at General Electric's Hotpoint Appliance Division ending a 24-hour walkout.

Dale Nugent, president of UAW Local 261, said UAW president Walter Reuther requested the work stoppage be called off in the wake of President Johnson's appeal to the International Electrical Workers union to halt a strike against General Electric plants throughout the nation.

Hotpoint spokesmen said the Milwaukee walkout reflected grievances rather than contract issues which the division and the local have been negotiating since August.

Meantime, George Lajsis of Milwaukee, an international representative of the International Association of Machinists, reported there was no progress between his union and General Electric's X-Ray Department during talks Monday.

Market Rallies Above Its Lows

Mixed Pattern Shows Some Losses, but Overall Improvement

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weathered another gust of selling and rallied above its lows early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The pattern was mixed and some indicators still showed slight losses although the general price structure was greatly improved.

At noon, the Dow Jones industrial average was up 1.83 at 759.79 after having shown a loss of 3.62.

Stocks fell irregularly from the opening as the selloff of Monday resumed. This put the Dow industrials at their lowest level since December 1963. Selling became heavier in late morning and then trading came to something of a climax as the selling and buying drives met head on.

Airlines and other glamor stocks made some sharp recoveries.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .2 at 274.5 with industrials off .4, rails off .5 and utilities up .4.

News of sharp traffic gains in September for United and Eastern airlines accompanied the recovery of airline stocks. Eastern and Pan American were up well over a point, United a good fraction.

Du Pont rebounded about 2 1/2, lending considerable beef to the averages. General Motors erased a small early loss and edged into plus territory.

Gains of a point or so were made by a wide range of stocks including Jones & Laughlin, Boeing, Raytheon, Polaroid, U.S. Smelting and Merck.

IBM remained down 2 points and Xerox was off about 3. Lorillard, United Aircraft and Zenith were among 1-point losers.

Research Centers To be Developed For 'Head Start'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Economic Opportunity has signed a $1,479,796 contract with the Institute for Educational Development to establish 10 Head Start regional evaluation and research centers.

Sargent Shriver, director of the OEO, said Monday the centers will be based in 10 universities operating under subcontracts with the institute.

Michigan State University, one of the regional centers, will represent Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and western Ohio.

Staffs of qualified research scientists in these universities will evaluate operating Head Start programs and conduct research into early childhood development.

Project Head Start is an anti-poverty program aimed at preschool children from poor families.

Circuit Court Ordered to Make Ruling

MADISON (AP) — The State Supreme Court ordered a circuit court today to rule if the Thorp Finance Corp. is acting as a collection agency without being licensed under the law.

The opinion, written by Justice Myron L. Gordon, reversed a decision by Circuit Judge Richard Bardwell of Dane County.

Bardwell had said the Wisconsin Collectors Association Inc., which filed the original complaint alleging Thorp was a collection agency, had not exhausted its remedies available through state agencies. Bardwell referred the case to the state banking commissioner and told him to rule whether Thorp's procedure violated state law.

"It was an abuse of discretion for the court to order the matter referred to an agency for a fresh start," Gordon wrote. "The court had jurisdiction, and ... we believe that the court should make its findings of fact and conclusions of law on the full record which of them has been made."

The high court also ordered Bardwell to decide if the Wisconsin Collectors Association had a right to sue Thorp in the first place. Thorp had argued the association did not have that legal right.

The association originally had asked that Thorp be made to stop its collection business. Thorp is an installment financing firm.

canned goods, kerosene and candles.

Late Monday, Inez was heading northward toward Abaco Island in the Bahamas, away from Miami. By midnight, she was backpeddling on a west-southwest course aimed at the Florida Keys.

Never before had forecasters had a storm on their hands so hard to figure.

Crossed Up Before
"The center should go ashore near Key Largo (40 miles south of Miami)," said Gordon Dunn, head of Miami's National Hurricane Center.

But Inez had crossed him up before, and he hastily added: "That is, unless she turns and goes in some other direction."

A couple of hours later an advisory said the storm "most likely" would not move across the Keys but would parallel them a little ways to the south. However, winds of hurricane force were expected to batter all the Keys.

While the eye of Inez was still 50 miles off shore, full gales whistled down Miami's palm-lined Biscayne Boulevard. Banana palms came crashing down and flashes of light marked power failures from Miami to Fort Lauderdale.

Angry winds churned Biscayne Bay into a wild fury. A houseboat was wedged under a bridge near the plush Fontainebleau Hotel. A 25-foot sailboat, Monday, was broken to pieces by smashing waves. The surf tumbled across U.S.

Powell Again Convicted Of Contempt

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., has been found guilty of civil contempt for a second time in a defamation of character suit against him.

State Supreme Court Justice Harry B. Frank, in his decision Monday, said that if Powell appeared before him Friday, he could avoid a second civil arrest warrant being issued against him.

Early in 1964 the Harlem Negro congressman was found guilty of civil contempt for not paying a $33,000 judgment against him by Esther James, a Negro charwoman whom he called on a television program, a "bag woman" — a collector of grant for corrupt police.

After failing to collect that sum, Mrs. James filed another suit charging that Powell had transferred ownership of his Puerto Rican home to avoid payment. That judgment stands at about $151,000, including interest.

This week or next Powell is expected to stand trial on a criminal contempt charge, which essentially parallels the civil charges.

Congressional immunity is not afforded congressmen found guilty of criminal contempt, a day. Then she turned for Milwaukee crime punishable by a maximum jail sentence of one year.

Music, Talk Occupy High Schoolers

Sunday evening at St. Joseph School it was the high school students' turn. Guitarists and guests from "The Cavern" provided entertainment at the 'Folk Song Dance' at the school.

Patterned after, but not duplicating the coffee house atmosphere of the Cavern, the new meeting place will be exclusively for high school juniors and seniors. A name has not been chosen, but plans are underway to create some sort of discussion room.

The first meeting was held from 8 to 11 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Refreshments included about 20 varieties of soup broth. The place is intended to give high school youth a place to meet their friends, to indulge in conversation and impromptu music, and to dance if they wish.

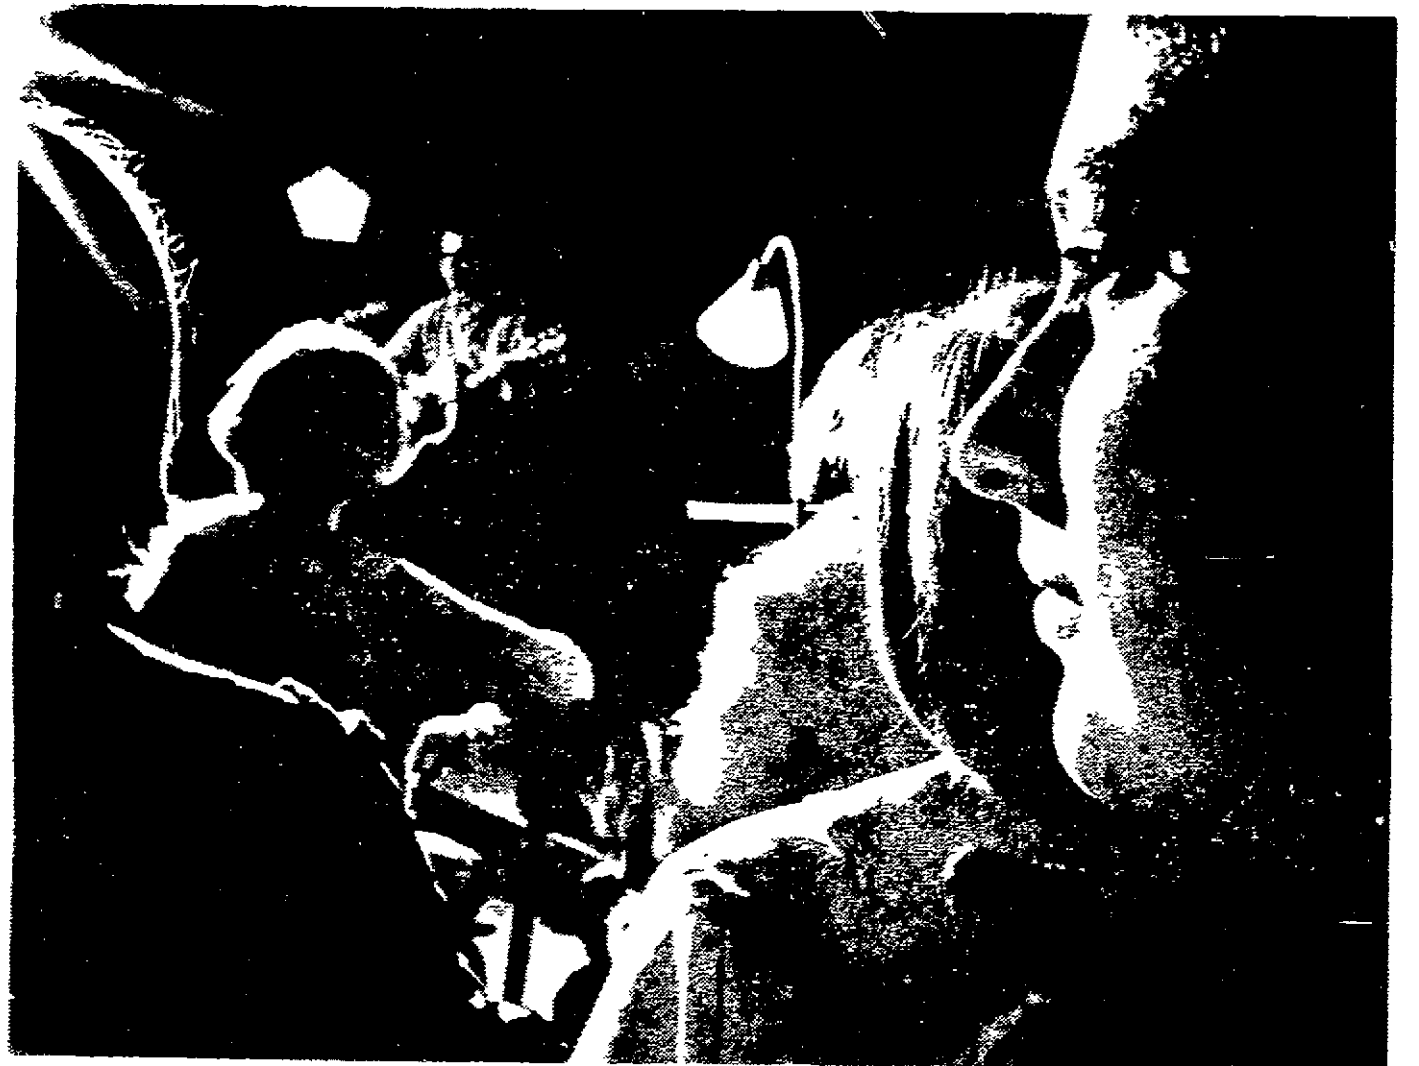

This evening about 70 Lawrence students and faculty members will be guests at The Cavern, introducing the group to the meeting place and perhaps setting the stage for some of the professors to conduct talks on subjects of current interest.

Vise Planning Helps Avoid, Solve Family Money Problems

People today have more money to spend but they find more difficult to pay bills because of poor financial management.

This viewpoint was expressed by Miss Louise Young, a management specialist, University of Wisconsin Extension Service, Madison, as she discussed an "Overview of Financial Planning." It was the first in a four part course conducted by the Outagamie County Extension Service at 8 p.m. Monday at Stein Jr. High School.

Money Problems

"People have real money problems," she notes, citing credit-card debt, bank overdrafts, and garnishments as examples. In 1962, 72 of 1,000 persons filed personal bankruptcies. Three years later the proportion had risen to 85 per 100,000 persons, she said.

"Unrealistic values and needs are also a stumbling block in financial management. 'People want too much to give in to advertising pressures,' Miss Young told an audience of 150.

Other problems are lack of education in financial matters, expensive medical bills uncovered by health insurance, unrealistic spending for recreational purposes and self-gratification.

Use All Resources

"Without planning, families have too much money at the end of the month," she commented.

Good management is using resources to get what you want, based on your values and goals, she said, recommending that a family determine its present and future needs and also define and realistically attempt to solve money problems.

Resources, according to Miss Young, include income and net worth as well as time, energy, skills and ability. Net worth she defined as "the difference in what you own and what you owe."

Study Daily Expenses

Families should plan saving and spending according to their daily committed expenses and long term investments such as education and housing, she recommended. Miss Young also suggested that children be included in family financial planning so they could be more realistic in their demands and learn money management at a young age.

"We live in a money economy," she said. "We spend what we earn. It is not the amount we earn but the management of our money," she observed, stressing that planning helps avoid impulsive shopping.

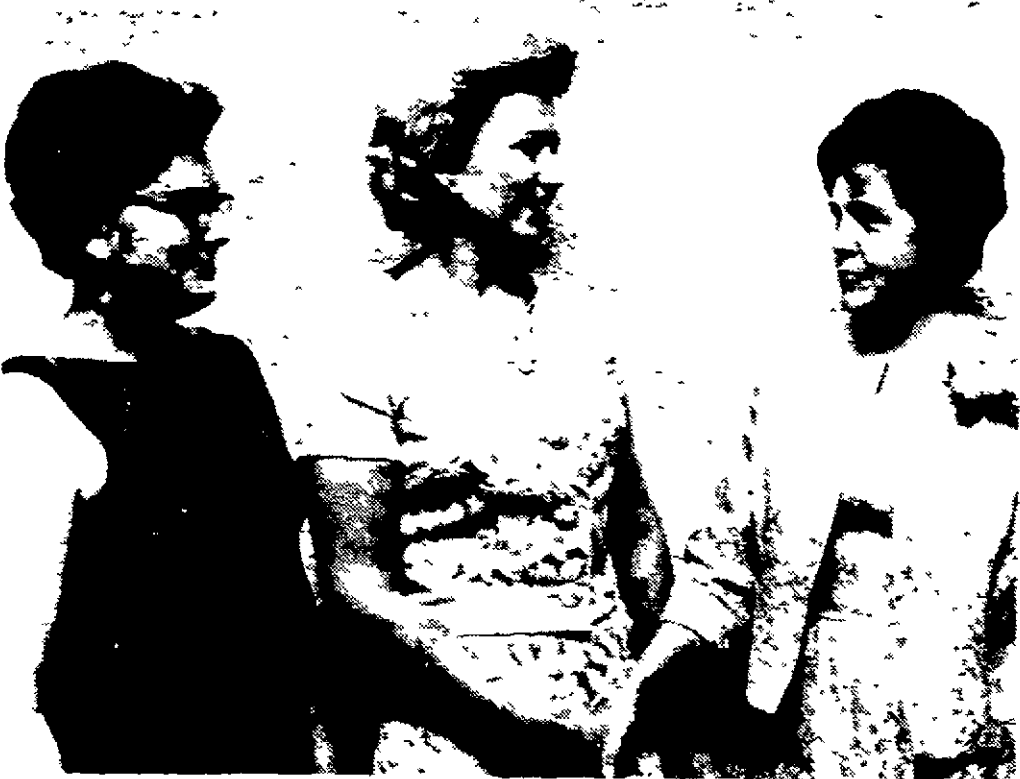

A family should also employ good legal and business methods in keeping records, tax accounts and wills, she said. There should be a clear and complete record of a family's insurance policies, checking and savings accounts, investments and indebtedness, the home management specialist pointed out.

Stretch Your Dollars

"Good money management is the use of resources we have to achieve the greatest satisfaction," she summarized. "We can avoid impulse buying through planning and thus stretch dollars."

Community interest in the management series was evident when over 150 persons waited an hour and a half in the rain because the school had not been opened on schedule.

Other topics for the next three consecutive Monday evenings are "Investments—Are they a Gamble," "Credit—Friend or Foe," and "Estate Creation and Planning."

Your Problems

Pensioner Wonders Whether He Should Marry for Money

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What is your opinion of a poor man marrying for money?

I'm a pensioner and make barely enough on the side as a free-lance writer to live decently. The woman I have been going with is not wealthy but we could both live very comfortably on what she has.

Several months back I sold an article and was able to take her to dinner several times. When my money ran low she knew it and asked about going Dutch. I agreed.

The next evening we went to a movie. While I was getting my wallet out she slid her arm under mine and thrust $10 at the cashier. I was greatly embarrassed.

My mother inherited some money and she never let dad forget that many of the nice things we had were bought with children's money. She let us kids know that too.

I always said I'd starve to death before I'd marry a woman who had more money than I did but now that I am faced with the possibility I'm not so sure.

We are not kids anymore and marriage would give us companionship in our twilight years. Would this make me a gigolo? — The Big O.

Dear Q: Do you want a girl just like the girl who married

dear old dad? If you do, here's your chance. And lotsa luck. You'll need it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have two children. I am writing about our six-year-old girl. I better find out by observing her at play and checking with her teacher to determine why she is not liked by some of the children. You are pointing your finger at the mothers but I suspect it was the youngsters who did not want to invite Flora.

Will you please print the following information.

Two cases of beer plus a couple of stops at the tavern amounts to $10 a week.

Fifty-two times $10 equals $520 a year.

Ten years of marriage times $520 equals $5,200.

A lot of nice houses can be had with a down payment of $5,200. Get it? — Broke and Still Renting.

Dear Broke: Yes, I get it. But unfortunately, the people who need to get it are lousy at this kind of arithmetic.

That's why they're broke and still renting.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Suitor's Snow Job Too Often Frozen in Winter of Marriage

Charlotte Pansy Miss Pansy Tells Plans For Wedding

NEENAH — Mr. and Mrs. Elmer M. Pansy, 829 E. Cecil St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte M., to Lawrence A. Odau, Oconto Falls. Parents of the bridegroom-elect are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Odau, Oconto Falls. Miss Pansy attended Colorado her out for an evening even to Woman's College, Denver, and the University of Wisconsin.

It still thrills her to remember how romantic he once was. But, alas, then his romance turned into rheumatism.

Is this the same fellow who used to like to help her with the dishes as he told her of the dream life they'd have together? Now the only time he comes into the kitchen is when he rushes to the refrigerator for a can of beer during television commercials.

"Nothing will ever come between us," he assured her before he took her to the altar. Now he leaves her twiddling her thumbs while he goes to football games with his buddies.

He used to think she ate like a bird. Today, if she reaches for a second piece of breakfast toast, he glares at her as if she were a pelican.

Before the wedding, he worried if she even developed a head cold. Now, if she comes down with double pneumonia, he'd say, "Women are always running to the doctor for something or other."

She recalls how he closed his eyes when he gave her a long, tender goodnight kiss. Not anymore. Galloping off to work, he has one eye on his wrist watch as he pecks at her cheek — and misses.

Once he said he'd be glad if they had enough children to make up their own family baseball team. Now he says he's too tired to play table tennis with their 6-year-old daughter.

Before the wedding he was as handsome as Adonis. But now the big slob won't even shave between Friday and Monday.

"What happened to him?" the wife asks herself.

Nothing. He just got married and became a typical American husband — the kind that women in other parts of the world think is so wonderful.

But they don't have to live with him.

Bachelors in France Face Lonely Year

ESPARROS, France (AP) — The bachelor derby staged by the lonely males of Esparros brought a lot of attention to the village but little lasting sentiment.

Faced by a dismal shortage of eligible marriage partners, the bachelors of Esparros decided to hold an open house May 29. Single girls, widows and other unattached women were invited to look over the supply of marriage-hungry males—and to line up for inspection themselves.

When the day arrived, thousands of curious visitors flocked to Esparros and neighboring villages facing the same problem high in the Pyrenees.

The advance planning broke down. The bachelors were supposed to wear an armband. The interested girls were supposed to wear a numbered white boutonniere. In the picnicking crowds, few of the lonely heart signals were sighted.

Charles Duthu, mayor of Esparros, reports there has been a sign of romantic upturn, however. Two weeks ago he performed a marriage for Francis Pommerie and Elise Marcuillat—the first in Esparros in 10 years.

As a sign of celebration, the bachelors' committee gave the newlyweds a week's honeymoon in Biarritz.

Unfortunately, Pommerie and his bride have no plans to live in Esparros. Pommerie is an army career man and is stationed in Dax.

Heinritz' Name Won't Appear on November Ballot

Former Sheriff's Papers Found Defective According to Statute

Donald J. Heinritz, 44, whose nomination papers as an independent candidate for Outagamie County sheriff were declared invalid Monday afternoon, late this morning said he would ask County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer to allow him to "amend" the papers to render them acceptable.

In a letter prepared today, Heinritz asked that he be allowed to remove any reference to the Republican Party from his papers.

Miss Pfeffer indicated later that she could not comply with Heinritz' request because his papers were ruled invalid under a state statute.

Heinritz, in his letter to the clerk, had stated that these papers were certified and accepted by your office.

Heinritz, who was defeated in the September Republican primary by Undersheriff Norbert J. Marx, was informed by Miss Pfeffer late Monday afternoon that his name could not appear on the general election ballot.

Ruled Invalid

The Appleton man's nomination papers, filed Sept. 27 and containing more than 1,700 signatures, were ruled invalid by A. W. Ponath, county corporation counsel, who cited a 1965 amendment to a Wisconsin statute applying to elections.

Heinritz used the words "Independent True Republican" on his nomination papers. This followed his primary election slogan, "A True Republican."

Ponath ruled, and election officials in the secretary of state's office confirmed, that the word "Republican" following "Independent" disqualified Heinritz.

It was Ponath's written opinion that "you cannot place the name of a candidate for office on any ballot in the November election where the nomination papers as filed... 'comprise a combination of existing party names, or qualifying words, phrases, prefixes or suffixes in connection with any existing party name'."

"Disqualified Himself"

Ponath continued, "In this particular case, the candidate identified himself as an independent true Republican. His right was to identify himself as an independent, without any qualifying words, but when he chose to phrase it as he did, he disqualified himself under the meaning of Section 5.13 of the Wisconsin statutes."

Heinritz was informed of the ruling about 4:45 p.m. Monday. The former sheriff, who in 1952 was defeated as an independent candidate for sheriff, lost last month's primary nod to Marx by 67 votes. Lt. Robert Main of the Kaukauna Police Department is the Democratic candidate.

The sheriff candidacy situation here closely parallels a problem that arose last week in Milwaukee County where an assemblyman defeated in the primary circulated papers as an independent.

Lightning Shatters Chimney at School

Damage Extensive to Structure on Appleton's North Side Monday

Workmen using a huge crane are expected to complete installation of a new chimney by Thursday morning at Jackson School, where lightning struck Monday afternoon, shattering a major portion of the old, brick chimney.

The extensive damage at the public elementary school on the city's north side represented the most serious destruction brought by a storm that struck portions of the state Monday. Lightning also caused minor fires in a garage owned by Clarence O. Baetz, 2630 E. Newberry St., and an apartment building at 200 N. Richmond St., owned by George Kuehnle.

In both cases, lightning followed electrical wiring into the buildings.

In Port Washington, two sailboats and a cruiser were blown ashore by 40-mile-per-hour winds. High wave warnings were posted for Lake Michigan and Lake Superior in the face of winds up to 58 m.p.h.

Monday was the second time this year lightning struck the Jackson School chimney. Early last summer, a corner of the 20-foot-high structure was ripped away during a storm. Damage had not been repaired because a contractor could not be secured.

Lightning, which struck about 1:15 p.m. Monday, peeled the outside layer of brick from the 10-ton chimney, and fractured the inside brick facing, according to Kenneth Schmidt, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the city's public schools.

The concrete cap was moved four inches off the chimney and a half ton of brick was hurled to the school grounds. Two cars parked about 35 feet away were damaged. The rear window of one car was shattered and the trunk was damaged on another vehicle.

School in Session

"It's a blessing none of the children were on the nearby playground when the lightning struck," Schmidt said. School was in session at the time. The blast shook windows throughout the building. Classes continued while the entire area below the chimney was fenced off. Schmidt said.

Fire department inspectors made a thorough check of the building, but found no fire.

The chimney "was rendered completely unsafe" by Monday's lightning strike, Schmidt said. Falling bricks punctured holes in the roof of the old building, but the extent of roof damage will not be known until the chimney is razed and bricks are removed from the roof area.

Razing Begins

Schmidt said damage is covered by insurance. Berg and Henn, Inc., Appleton, was contacted immediately.

Appleton Officials Vow to Slash City's Record Budget

Appleton Public Works

Applicants Scarce For Director Post

There were more interviewers than candidates for the position of Appleton public works director here today.

Four men — all from Wisconsin — were scheduled to undergo interviews at city hall.

Several weeks ago, six persons were interested in the job. The written test administered by the State Bureau of Personnel and four passed.

A California man who distanced the field in the tests with a score of 98 informed Personnel Director Jerry Rusch recently that he would not be able to come to Appleton today.

Visit Requested

Those who passed the test were requested to come here for the interviews. Ratings of tests and interviews will be combined to arrive at the final score of each applicant.

The post, which has a salary range of $955 to $1,135 a month, became vacant upon the resignation of Robert Bues, Donald Bengs, Bues' assistant, is now acting public works director.

Conducting today's interviews were: Roger Krempel, Janesville city engineer; Thomas Driscoll, Portland Cement Co.; Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), council president; Ald. John MacDonald (7th), personnel committee chairman; Bues, now employed at the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.; and Rusch.

Rusch said Mayor Buckley indicated he would not serve on the panel. Rusch will give him a list of the job candidates ranking first, second and third.

Except for one applicant, those seeking the job are in their early 30s and have had limited public works department experience.

May Start Again

Rusch said there was the possibility if the committee was not satisfied with the results of the interviews, he would not submit a list to the mayor.

"We haven't precluded the

$16,167,483 Request Represents $8 Per $1,000 Assessed Value Hike, Determined to Hold to $4

Appleton's 1967 budget request — a record $16,167,483 — came within a roll call vote of being sent back to all departments, boards and commissions with orders to make cuts Monday night.

However, the common council's finance committee was split on what approach to take in instituting budget deletions prior to the start of hearings later in the week.

A compromise was reached on a motion which directed all department heads to be prepared to recommend budget cuts when appearing before the examining committee.

$8 Tax Boost

The requests of all municipal departments, including the public school system, call for an increase in spending of $2,706,000 over this year's actual budget allocations. This would mean an $8 boost in the tax rate.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), committee chairman, cautioned members against "pushing the panic button" and predicted the committee would make sizeable cuts in requests of various department, boards and commissions.

Tews predicted the increase in next year's tax rate would be under the $4 figure.

Ald. John MacDonald (8th) authored a motion to have the budget requests sent back immediately to their authors with instructions to start making deletions.

Start Action

"I think the time has come for us to take some sort of action because no one knows better where to cut a budget than the person who prepared it," MacDonald declared.

"I, for one, do not want to see any $8, $6 or even $5 tax increase," MacDonald added. He felt his proposal would have some effectiveness.

However, Tews didn't think time would permit sending the budgets back for revision and questioned what effect it would actually have.

"It might be an injustice to some departments," Tews said, and salaried employees are He noted the board of education being asked to support the tion, which has come in with an increase amounting to about half hour's pay a month.

Fox, Wolf River Get $10,000 for Flood Control

Receive Portion of $4 Billion Approved Water Project Studies

Senate Appropriations Committee approval Monday of $4 billion for water projects and studies including a $10,000 sum for continuation of a flood control study on the Fox and Wolf rivers, Thomas Hicks, public information officer of the Chicago District Corps of Engineers, said today.

The total project cost is estimated to reach $216,000. Hicks said. Thus far, $111,000 have been allocated to the local river basins project. The study began several years ago.

Hicks said "The rapidity of the study depends entirely upon the justification of needs by local people. This is a situation where, so far, we have not been able to develop sufficient justification for local flood control projects. We are developing a plan to meet the water resource needs of the basins based on what can be developed from local interest people concerning their needs and desires for uses of water and its related land resources," he said.

Possible Change

Hicks said the engineers were also considering a possible change in regulating the level of Lake Winnebago to meet the needs of conservationists, property owners and water users. Water power and navigation interests have expressed primary interest in such regulations, he indicated.

The $10,000 allocation apparently excludes study or work involving the Menasha locks. Hicks indicated that money for that purpose would probably not be available through the continued flood control study.

Should the $216,000 study be completed, the U.S. Corps of Engineers would recommend approval or disapproval of further projects for the area. A formal report would be forwarded to the office of the chief of engineers for review and possible recommendation to the bureau of budgets and congress.

Hearings Scheduled on Appleton Zoning Map

Informal Meetings Aimed at Informing Residents of Plans for Eight Areas of City

A series of informal hearings will be conducted by the Appleton Plan Commission on a new city-wide zoning map prepared by a St. Louis consulting firm, it was announced Monday.

The map represents one of the integral parts of the overall comprehensive plan drawn up for Appleton with the assistance of a federal grant. The plan cost about $115,000.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen told the commission Monday the zoning map was broken down into eight planning districts, including the central business area.

Commissioners spent several months reviewing the new zoning map, which changes the zoning character of some areas. They are now ready to hold the informal hearings.

Forward to Council

After the hearings, the new map and recommendations will be forwarded to the council for adoption.

The commission authorized City Clerk Elden Broehm to advertise the series of one-a-week hearings, the dates to be set.

The eight planning areas northwest, Erb Park, Edison-Huntley, southeast, Pierce Park, Palisades, Madison and the entire central business district, for which there is a separate plan.

Names of neighborhood planning areas have been selected to associate the area with an easily recognized section of the city.

'Basic Means'

"The planning areas generally encompass more than one neighborhood, and should become the basic means by which the city can plan for the future growth and solve whatever problems may exist," consultants said in their report.

Each area shows the present zoning and makes an appraisal and analysis. Pinpointed are basic street patterns, various landmarks and plans indicating future growth, expansion and redevelopment or rehabilitation.

The plan commission will explain each planning area separately to residents of respective areas.

Lorren A. Schroeder, Neenah, was elected Monday night to serve as president of the board of the Fox Valley Community Symphony Association. He replaces Dr. Robert Najem, who has left the area. ## 1,415 Planes Use Outagamie County Airport

CAP Squadron Conducts Survey Of August Traffic

Traffic at the Outagamie County Airport for the month of August was 80 per cent above traffic for the same month last year, the county board's airport committee was told Monday.

The Fox Cities Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol conducted the survey from Aug. 1 through Aug. 31, which showed that 1,415 airplanes, including 1,110 private craft, used the airport. Air Wisconsin flights were included in the count.

The CAP was hired by the county board, at a cost of $466, to make the study. It was the first official survey of air traffic at the new port.

Adverse Weather Airport committee members, meeting this morning, said the large increase in traffic was especially significant since adverse weather conditions held flights to a minimum several days in August.

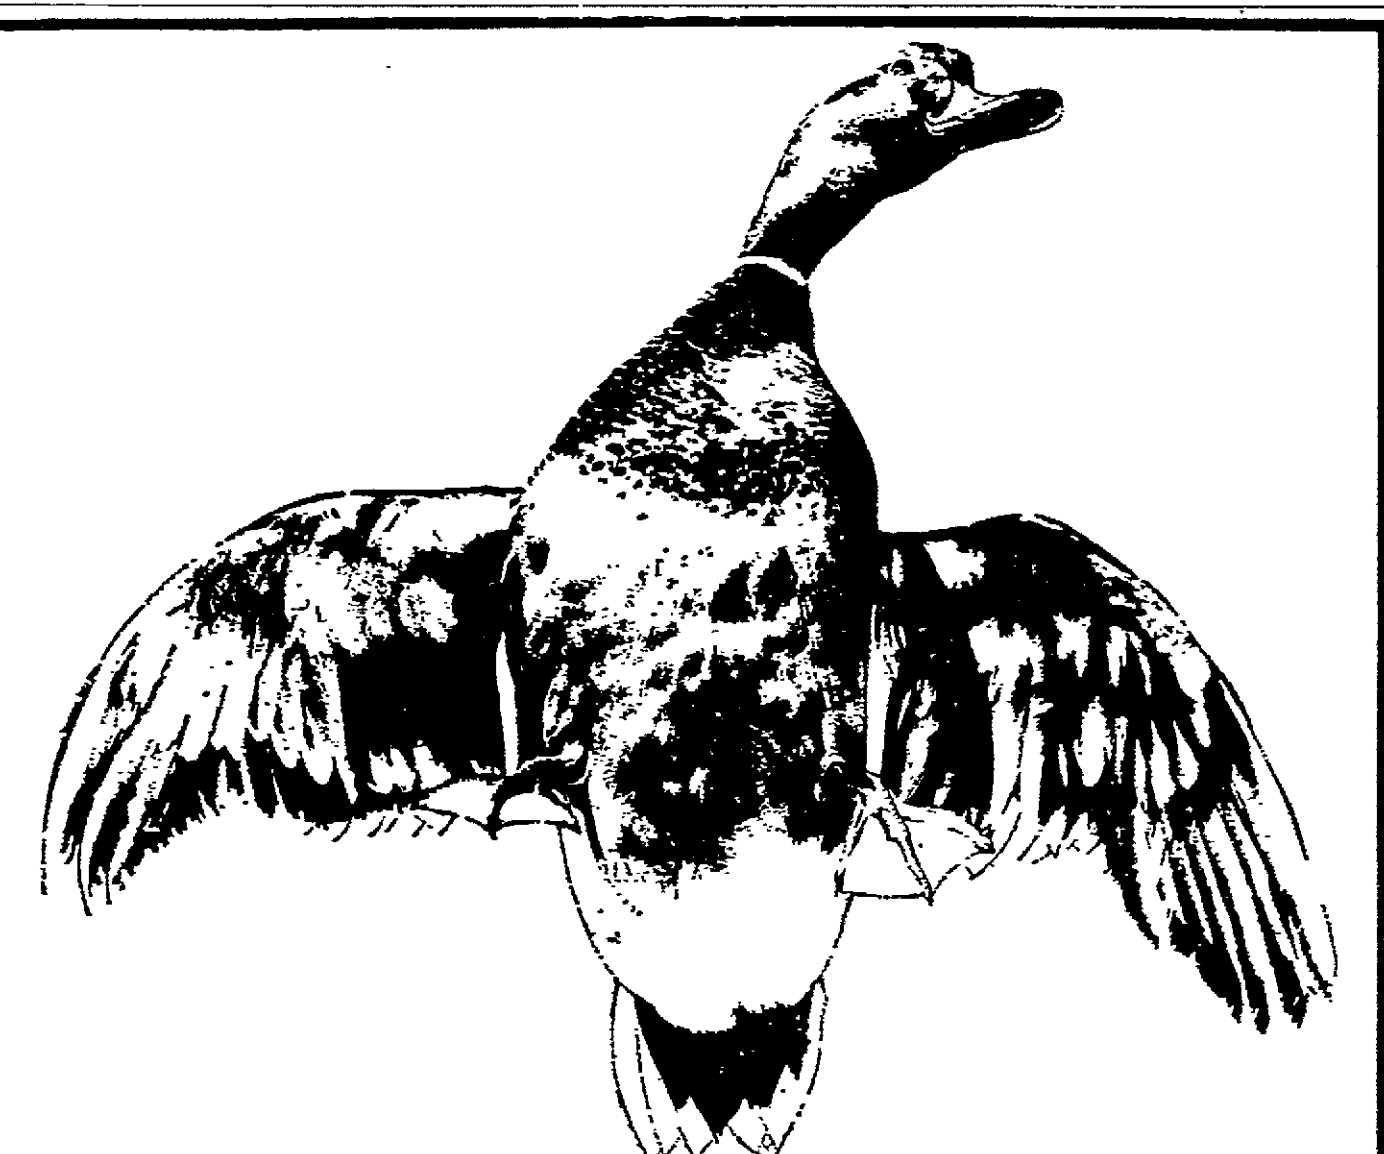

The CAP survey included data on the make of aircraft, model in the numbers, number of male and female passengers, aircraft owners, where the plane was based, where flights arrived from and the destinations, the number of times a particular pilot has used the local airport, and the purpose of the flights.

In other action this morning, the airport committee approved the leasing of a tractor from Griesbach Equipment Co. of Appleton. The tractor will be used for general airport work, including mowing and snow plowing.

Formal Medical Staff Formed At County's Hospital, Home

Medicare requirements and a laws for the formal medical staff have been drawn up and the group will meet regularly. Outagamie County Hospital and Golden Age Home have caused hiring addition personnel and formation of a formal medical staff at the institutions, according to John A. Engle, superintendent.

Four physicians have been named to the active staff at the hospital and home. Approximately 50 "courtesy" staff doctors are listed as well, Engle said. "We have formally had a medical staff. We hope this will provide a higher level of patient care in the hospital and home," he said.

Courtesy staff doctors, representing approximately two-thirds of the county's doctors, are those who have expressed an interest in serving patients at the institutions should the occasion arise. Engle said by-assistant clinical director and director of the alcoholism services unit at the Winnebago State Hospital.

Recent additions to the institutions' staff include Dr. George Lysloff, Dr. Edmund Olson and Kenneth Mace, a licensed pharmacist. Each will spend one day a week at the institution.

Dr. Lysloff will serve as a psychiatric consultant. He is the

Dr. Olson was added to the Outagamie County staff Oct. 1 as consulting psychologist. Dr. Olson is associate professor of psychology at Lawrence University and director of student counseling.

New Position

Mace's position, part-time pharmacist, is a new one. He is in charge of ordering, stocking, and keeping record of drugs. Engle said the post is required by law of every home with a pharmacy.

Another recent innovation at the county institution, Engle said, was the adoption of a utilization review plan which will be effective Jan. 1, 1967. Developed as a requirement of medicare, the plan provides for a review of admissions to the Golden Age Home to determine the medical necessity of new patients and the length of their stay in the home.

The county facility was certified for medicare July 1. Engle said extended care facilities will be certified Jan. 1.

Schmidt said the old chimney will be replaced with a steel cap and a 10-foot stainless steel stack. "Although the steel structure will not be entirely compatible with the rest of the building, appearance-wise, it is imperative that we get heat for the school as soon as possible," Schmidt said.

The lowest temperature in rooms this morning was 62 degrees, while most of the rooms were 68 degrees, Schmidt said. Body heat brings the temperature nearly to normal, he explained.

GREEN BAY — Gov. Warren P. Knowles said this morning top priority should be given to the need for bridge construction on U.S. 41 over Lake Butte des Morts near Oshkosh.

The governor, in an interview added the State Highway Commission probably will set up a system of priorities, but he could not say where the needs of Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay and Appleton would be rated.

Those three cities have been mentioned in recent talks as sites which need new or reconstructed bridges.

Knowles also for the first time unequivocally stated he would not debate with Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, his opponent in November's election. Knowles emphasized he would "stand on my record in office."

740 Instructors Attend Weekly Reading Clinics

Valley Teachers Learn to Recognize Pupil Deficiencies, Prescribe Corrective Measures

Six remedial reading instructors of the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) Title III program are currently conducting 20 sessions weekly in 17 Fox Valley area schools as part of the service of the federally funded project.

More than 740 teachers of public and parochial schools are attending the 18 centers each week. Originally it was expected that about 420 teachers would participate.

In-Service Presentations

The in-service presentations also are being enriched by staff members of Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh. Dr. Norman Frenzel, Dr. Jean Caudle, professors, and Ruth Engleman, acting director of the reading clinic of WSU - O, implement the syllabus designed for the 10-week sessions.

The syllabus contains factors in the reading process, which are psychological, biological and social; an outline of how the usual curriculum is encompassed in the language arts; wide personal reading, reading in the content areas and comprehension.

Reading difficulties are outlined in causes and symptoms, identification of the under-achiever and uses of tests in diagnosis and evaluation.

Diagnosis Guidelines

Guidelines for diagnosis and correction are developed as well as setting up a program of instruction approaches and public relations.

Under the area of programs, corrective reading in the classroom, characteristics of a remedial teacher, diagnostic techniques for silent and oral reading are discussed. The role of parents, scheduling and grouping, means of diagnosing and evaluating and the case study approach are covered.

The course will conclude with a review of new approaches and materials in reading.

The six title III instructors, are Mrs. Vivian Harnitz, John Kenneth Bobber and Robert Ray. Wayne Mast, Mrs. Diana Spangler, directors. Additional Bucan, Donald Beyer and Richard McDougal.

Applied Surplus

Last year when arriving at the 1966 tax levy, the council was able to apply an estimated $300,000 surplus to keep the tax rate increase under $2.

Talking about a possible $8 tax boost—based on requests which are bound to be slashed—Schreve said $5.87 could be attributed to city purposes and $2.90 to the board of education.

Touching on the year's revenue situation, Schreve said it was estimated the city would get $1,665,000 and "this figure looks good now."

The committee was told the city would accrue about $300,000 interest from short term investments of school bond issue proceeds but could not relegate it to the city fund as in the past, and it is very important that a determination is made of items which are bound to be slashed.

He estimated about $165,000 would have to be set aside in a special school fund to be applied to the 1968 schools' levy as required by a recent supreme court decision.

Schreve also explained while the city would be paying out he expected help from the $2,290,000 in interest and principal payments for bonded indebtedness next year, the city was paying off at a rate of $1,701,000 annually.

Schreve indicated the city's long-term projections were with the $5 million expenditure for a new senior high school. "We haven't recovered from that yet," he added.

Mayor George Buckley, who capital improvements should be earlier in the day called for scheduled fiscally, recalling several major cuts in all budgets, said the school board was pressing school buildings projects were for purchase of a southeast school site.

Rating Drop

"Our bonding consultants (a reviewing budgets and not Minneapolis firm) told us if we necessarily finish by Oct. 21 as have intentions of planning for originally scheduled another school next year and intend to bond, our rating will go down again," Buckley warned the committee.

Committee members, including Tews, MacDonald, Alds. Al Stoegbauer (4th), George Schrewe (6th) and Eldred Mullen (6th) agreed the school board should take "a breather" when it comes to new buildings.

It was noted that since 1965 bonded indebtedness for school purposes had been exceeding the general city debt. Payments on debt during the coming year will be $1,292,735 for the public schools and $913,702 for general city purposes.

Looking at the proposed increase in the general city budget, Schreve said College Avenue reconstruction will cost $800,000, while $970,000 has been earmarked for other street construction and the citywide resurfacing program which is being spread out over a five-year period.

Keep Essentials

Tews said the proposed budget should be reduced without eliminating essential needs. "We know the city is growing and it is very important that a determination is made of items and what items can be deferred or deleted," he said.

Tews reminded colleagues they would not be the only ones who would "Get a whack at the Taxpayers Association and the council which has the final say

Trend Reversed

"I'm deeply concerned over the high budget requests," remarked Ald. Stoegbauer. "And I am also afraid of what will happen if the country's present trend should suddenly be reversed."

MacDonald felt all major capital improvements should be scheduled fiscally, recalling several public improvements and school buildings projects were bunched in 1965-66.

Tews advised the committee intended to "take its time" in reviewing budgets and not have intentions of planning for originally scheduled

Viet Nam War Must Be Expanded Soon, Dirksen Predicts

Senate Minority Leader Does Not Expect LBJ to Use Nuclear Arms

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen predicted today the war in Viet Nam will have to be expanded soon.

However, Dirksen made it clear in an interview he does not expect President Johnson to resort to the use of nuclear weapons — an action GOP former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said he would not “automatically” preclude.

“Things can’t go on like they are in Viet Nam,” the senator from Illinois said. “You either escalate the fighting or think in some other terms. We can’t surrender and we can’t retreat.”

Meanwhile, others had this to say about military action in Southeast Asia:

— The State Department: Its “information indicates” that South Viet missile specialists in North Viet Nam are limited strictly to training activities.

— Send Troops

— Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Razak of Malaysia: “Well, I think so, yes. With the request of the South Viet Nam government, his country would probably send troops to South Viet Nam.”

— Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., a leading critic of administration policy: “What he called administration silence of the U.S. buildup in Thailand puts Congress in the position of ‘easily and compliantly — if not enthusiastically — becoming the instrument of the President’.”

In predicting that the war will have to be expanded, Dirksen mentioned no troop buildup figures.

He said that the question of nuclear weapons was discussed by the GOP group but only in the context of their possible use “in an emergency, if your back was to the wall and there was nothing else to do.”

Rapid Conclusion

Eisenhower said “I would do anything that would bring the war to an honorable conclusion as rapidly as I could.”

This fell short of satisfying Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield. He called in an interview for Eisenhower to “produce specifics” on how he would go about ending the war.

Mansfield said Eisenhower “is the best informed man about Viet Nam outside the government. The President has kept in close contact with him through White House meetings, sending representatives to Gettysburg to brief him and in asking for his suggestions and advice.”

Mansfield said he does not attribute any political motives to Eisenhower’s statements, although they were made at a news conference after a Republican policy meeting.

Refusal to Support Segregationist Draws Praise, Concern for Weltner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles L. Weltner's decision to withdraw as a nominee for reelection rather than support segregationist rather than support all three civil rights bills in the last three years.

Lester G. Maddox has stirred praise for his action mixed with concern over the political wisdom of his course.

Monday's announcement by Weltner, a Democrat, that “I will give up my office before I give up my principles” tossed a bombshell into an already shaken Georgia political scene.

Maddox, a Democrat, is running for governor against a Goldwater Republican conservative, Rep. Howard H. Callaway.

The announcement also stunned many in Congress where Weltner has become widely regarded as a symbol of a “new South.”

From Northern Democrats generally came high praise for the Atlanta Democrat, 38, now serving his second term. He has been a staunch Johnson administration supporter and backed all three civil rights bills in the last three years.

“Charlie Weltner is one of the finest and bravest men I have ever met in all my years in public life,” said Speaker John W. McCormack.

A Texas Democrat, Jack Brooks, said there is an “old East Texas proverb” which says: “You cannot exercise statesmanship unless you have first been elected.”

More Conservative

In Georgia, Maddox reacted by asking if Weltner planned to resign from the Democratic party. “The Democratic party is becoming more conservative by the hour,” he said at Savannah.

Weltner, in making his deci-

Meat Packing Plant Ready For Violence

HARLAN, Iowa (AP) — Law enforcement officers said today they were prepared for a repetition of violence at a strike-bound meat packing plant which had attempted to reopen with imported workers.

A wave of destruction, punctuated by flying rocks and bullets, flared in and around the Western Iowa Pork Co. plant Monday in a strikers’ riot. The walkout began Aug. 18.

Several persons were injured, none seriously, and the plant suffered thousands of dollars damage.

Authorities said charges would be filed against some of about 70 members of Local 1225 of the United Packinghouse Food and Allied Workers union allegedly involved in the riot.

An uneasy truce developed later in the day when about 100 persons who had renounced the plant’s hog killing operations including about 30 flown in from California, were whisked away from the plant in state highway patrol cars.

However, plant officials indicated they may try to reopen the plant Wednesday. Union officials said that if imported workers are brought in again there probably would be more trouble.

Insurance Rate Study Called Insulting

Knowles Raps Lucey Proposal at Talk On Green Bay Visit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Warren P. Knowles says his Democratic rival for the governorship has insulted the insurance profession by suggesting an investigation of insurance rates and profits.

The Republican governor said Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey’s proposals make a convention of insurance agents sound like “a meeting of the Mafia.”

Lucey, Knowles said, “actually proposed that the state go into the auto insurance business.”

The governor, who visited Oconto, Green Bay and Marinette Monday, told a Green Bay meeting of about 250 insurance agents that he hopes Lucey’s proposals “will only serve to strengthen your own determination to support responsible public officials.”

“Character Assassination”

“I’ve been in public life long enough to expect a certain amount of character assassination from self-serving politicians,” Knowles said.

Lucey, in a campaign statement, repeated his proposal that Knowles call a special session of the Legislature concerning traffic safety.

Speaking in La Crosse, Lucey recommended more state aid and increased federal-state cooperation to spur Wisconsin industrial growth.

He presented a 10-point program in which he suggested greater state efforts to obtain federal loans and grants for industry, expansion of research facilities, and a state department of commerce.

Percy Expected To Resume Senate Campaign

CHICAGO (AP) — The campaign of Republican Charles H. Percy for the U.S. Senate is expected to resume this week.

It was halted Sept. 18 with the slaying of his daughter, Valerie, 21, in the Percy home in the Chicago suburb of Kenilworth. About 30 community headquarters across the state are to be reopened Wednesday.

A Percy aide said Monday that Percy and his family are expected to return to Chicago in midweek from seclusion in California. Percy was reported in telephone communication with his campaign manager.

Meanwhile, Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., Percy’s opponent, has been marking time in his campaign, pending resumption of activities by Percy. He is seeking his fourth term.

GOP Campaigners Get Much Advice

Call for Increased War Effort, Crime Purge Echo Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top C. Bliss cautiously forecast Republicans are giving GOP “reasonable gains” in the election campaigns some hard-line positions now little more than an advice on domestic matters and month away.

But he also reported that GOP polls show “a reasonable number of people undecided,” and water advocated in his losing he said the situation is volatile.

To some extent, it sounds an echo of the policies Barry Goldwater was not on hand Monday when a council of party leaders declared the United States should fight harder in Viet Nam, and demanded steps to deal with rioting and crime in American cities.

Both positions are in line with the stands he took two years ago.

Reasonable Gains

A Republican spokesman said the policy statements, issued by the Republican Coordinating Committee, will be sent to all the nominees now campaigning to rebuild the party’s battered fortunes in Congress and in state offices.

Law and Order

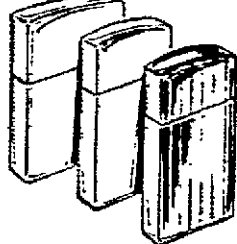

“Law and order is of paramount importance to 99 per cent of the people of this nation regardless of race, color or creed,” he replied.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke bitterly of deliberate rioting “engendered for no purpose but to hurt the rest of us.”

And the committee said Republicans would take steps to deal with “increasing disregard for the rights of others, creeping cynicism toward corruption, and mounting outbreaks of crime, violence and mob madness.”

Fox Cities Vocational District Plan Backed

EVANS POINT — Assemblyman David O. Martin (Rep., Winnebago County) and two representatives from Neenah-Menasha industries appeared today before the review panel of the State Board of Vocational-Technical and Adult Education and the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education to firm the position of the Twin Cities new vocational-technical school district.

This was the second presentation of the reasons supporting resolutions of the Neenah-Menasha school boards, vocational boards and industry unions and petitions were presented to the panel Aug. 23, Green Bay, the designated hearing for this area. Monday's variance at a hearing set for a Wisconsin counties and vocational schools was to correct and all misleading information presented by a citizens committee of Winnebago and Waushara Counties at Sept. 28 hearing before the panel. Their plan included Neenah-Menasha.

Overlooked Reasons
It is our belief that the committee of citizens from Winnebago and Waushara counties who appeared before the panel in Sheboygan overlooked completely the reasons and the Neenah-Menasha Vocational-Technical District," Martin said.

Apportion Costs
The citizens committee claimed that counties could better appportion costs "Apportionment of the tax levy to support the school in a district is no problem," Martin said. "Certification of cost based on equalized valuation for each municipality within the area is a relatively simple matter."

Auto Companies Break September Production Marks

DETROIT (AP)—Three auto companies built more cars last month than in any previous September in history as they hurried to get a full supply of 1967 models to the market place.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler all set new September highs. American Motors' showing was its strongest September since 1964.

Preliminary production reports from the four companies set September output in U.S. plants at 646,843 cars, far ahead of the 491,456 built in September last year.

The production reports included 23,220 cars for American Motors in September compared to 20,642 in September, 1964, and 189,782 for the first nine months of 1966 compared to 204,425 for the same period last year.

bright young men in our paper converting firm and we believe the Fox Cities district should be formed to include Neenah-Menasha, and formed as soon as possible to relieve our trained personnel shortage."

Also appearing before the panel was Robert Torgeson, counsel for American Can Co. "We have a steady demand for employees trained in the paper industry," he said. "Paper oriented training would only be available in a Fox Cities vocational district and that would be the answer for our 1,838 hourly employees."

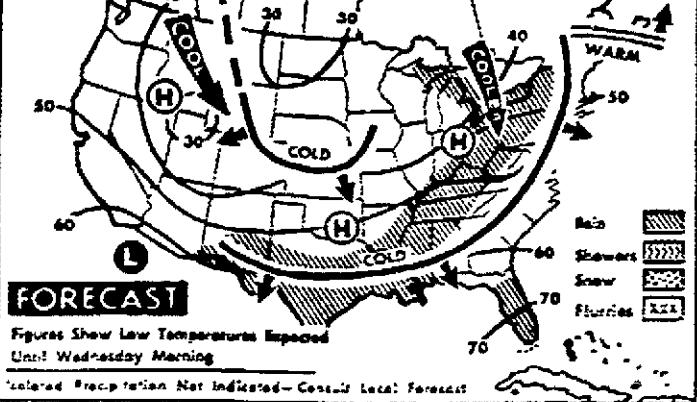

Reaffirming the reasons in support of Neenah and Menasha schools being a part of the core district with Appleton, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Combined Locks and Little Chute, Assemblyman Martin stressed six points:

1. That county lines should not be the determining factor in the creation of a Vocational-Technical School District. Educational opportunities transcend county, town and municipal lines.

2. That this area represented a homogeneous industrial complex, interlocking transportation routes, one telephone communication system, common cultural interests and educational opportunities.

3. That all elements of the criteria tentatively set by the state board were met.

4. That close educational cooperation between secondary schools, both private and public, could best be accomplished with the proposed vocational-technical and adult educational district.

Blaese Blasts 702 National Honor Set

First of Regular Season in Area Includes Booming 265 Line

Roger Blaese cracked the 522 and Jerry Thiel 557 first men's national honor count. Blaese's 702 was the first of the regular season in the Fox Cities area as he pounded a 702 in his first three nights.

There have been two other national sets in the area, but none were recorded in the Traveling Classic League. Blaese, a veteran knegler, blasted games of 265, 224 and 213 for his 702 count. It was the first men's national count in the 3-year history of Sabre Lanes.

Under Pressure
Blaese was under pressure right down to the wire as he needed eight pins or more on his final ball of the third game for the 700 count. Roger calmly fired a strike in the pocket.

In the 265 game, Blaese attracted a big crowd of witnesses as he blasted the first nine strikes in a row and then picked up a split on his first ball in the 10th frame.

Blaese had a 689 total for the four games rolled in the league competition. Other top scores in the league, all 3-game totals included: Jim Griesbach 607; Ron Jerez 607; Jack Ahrens 254-616; Bruce McEachern 617; Ed Flood 581; Gene Keberlein 574 and Art Last 566. Griesbach had 805 for four games and Ahrens posted 616.

Sears fires 604
Ray Sears set the pace in the Kimberly National League at Jerry's Lanes Monday night with a 604 series. Other high counts included Tvan "Red" Stahlberg 566; Dave Williamson best all-around QB Neenah has had since he (Ben) has been associated with the school, was given a good rush by Kimberly, but "zeroed some in" sensationally.

Meixl, who previously had been Neenah's JV coach, says his system is basically the same as Carl's. He has, however, put in a few innovations and is putting special emphasis on defense.

The Rockets still play a multiple offense and consider passing and running equally important, says Meixl.

History repeated itself for Ade Dillon-coached AHS Saturday. Three years ago, Sheboygan North spoiled the perfect record of the Terror team, which featured such stars as Chuck McKee and Gary Huetpas. Appleton, however, bounced back from the loss to win the rest of its games and share the conference crown with North.

Last Saturday's loss to North not only cost AHS its perfect record but undoubtedly its No. 1 rating in the state. Failure to capitalize on three early scoring opportunities, damaged Terror confidence while building up North's. AHS reached the North 23, 35 and 15 yard lines before the Raiders even chalked up a first down. North gained heart by its three defensive feats and gained the momentum it needed to produce the upset.

AHS' offense, which had been formidable previously, was held to 99 net yards. The Terror passing attack could manage only three completions in 19 tries for 49 yards.

FVL's perfect record was spoiled when the Foxes were outmaneuvered by a heavy Wayland Academy team. Well-executed power plays (4-0-5 yards) and the proverbial cloud of dust got the job done for the Redmen, who are coached by Dick Bova, former Appleton athletic star.

State Abandons Fight Against Goose Hazing

Manager of Refuge Mum About Geese Returning at Night

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin has abandoned its fight against the government's goose hazing program at Horicon Marsh, but it appeared Monday that the geese were deciding the issue in the state's favor anyway.

Robert Personius, manager of Horicon National Wildlife Refuge, said the hazing project confirmed that Canada geese can be chased from the marsh during daylight hours, but he declined comment on reports that the geese are returning to the refuge at night.

Robert E. McConnell, assistant Wisconsin attorney general, told U.S. District Judge Robert E. Tahan that the state is dropping its request for a restraining action against the hazing.

McConnell said papers could not be prepared before Thursday, and that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service project is to end Friday.

Personius had said a week ago that the service usually conducts hazing at the end of a migration, and that the success of hazing during a migration would not be known until wardens had a chance to count geese.

The hazing began with the refuge's goose count at 4,000. Counting is to resume by Monday. It was suspended while the service's aircraft and personnel were occupied with hazing.

The refuge draws about 125,000 geese during a migration. The service wanted to hold the goose population to 50,000.

Billy Hoelt Will Retire From Baseball

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Hoelt, a major league pitcher since 1952 who joined the San Francisco Giants late in the season just ended, has announced his retirement from baseball.

"This is it, men," Hoelt declared in Pittsburgh Sunday. "It's been great, but I've had it. I'm going to IBM school in Detroit this winter and then I'm going to work."

Hoelt, 31, was 0-2 with the Giants over the final month of the season and 1-4 overall. He came to the Giants from the Chicago Cubs. His career record is 97 wins and 101 defeats. He pitched for Detroit in the American League for seven seasons and won 20 games for the Tigers in 1956. He also pitched for the Giants in 1963 before net score of 72. ## Absorbed Brunt of Lion Attack

Aldridge Praises His Substitute, Brown

GREEN BAY — Lionel Aldridge gently poked at his swollen ankle and foot, perhaps reflecting back to 1963 momentarily when he struggled through his first game as starting defensive end of the Green Bay Packers.

"He did a great job," But this was Aldridge, now the established veteran, speaking the stool in front of his locker and begin the task.

He had taken the strongest blows the Lions could offer, suffering slam after slam in his direction as Detroit attempted to exploit Aldridge's absence and his presence. And he had come out of it staggering but still on his feet ... on the winning side.

"They really didn't do a great job of blocking me," the 25-year-old pro freshman recounted the biggest and probably longest hours of his athletic life.

"I just made mistakes. We've got certain keys and I didn't read them right all the time or ever, when he thought he had I was caught out of place," he explained in a surprisingly soft voice for one of his stature.

Maintains Team's Respect

Bauer Understanding, Keeps Players Relaxed

By GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer was thrust into the role of baseball manager unexpectedly, but he can hardly be described as holding down the wrong job.

The 44-year-old skipper of the American League champion Baltimore Orioles is a leader of men who keeps the players relaxed while maintaining respect. And his knowledge of the game's technical aspects improves every year.

Bauer's countenance — a rough-looking face and a raspy voice — is enough to give a rookie the shakes.

Make no mistake, the decorated ex-Marine is tough. His language is salty and he can handle himself in a scrap. But when it comes to running a baseball team, Bauer is most understanding.

Tease Me Back
"I try to keep everybody loose, more or less," he said. "I tease them and they tease me back."

Bauer has a club curfew, but concedes that he never has conducted a bed check during his managerial career.

"I get after a player once in a while — but not much," Bauer said. "I think I'm fair with them and they're fair with me. I can't ask any more than they give me 100 per cent on the field."

"People who think I'm rough just don't know me."

Playing Career

Bauer certainly gave 100 per cent during his playing career, being noted as one of the great hustlers of the game. With the New York Yankees, he played in nine World Series.

In the middle of the 1961 season, Bauer suddenly was given an opportunity to manage the Kansas City Athletics.

"I never thought much about managing," he said. "I thought I'd probably finish my baseball career as a coach."

"But when Charley Finley fired Joe Gordon, he asked me if I wanted the job. I took it right away, and thought later about how tough it was."

Crowell, who had another good day in the pass receiving department, boosted his total catches for the season to seven with a gain of 202 yards and two touchdowns.

Roberts said the Vikes came out of the St. Olaf game with an assortment of bumps and bruises, but nothing serious in the injury department. Ken Gatzke, a lineman who missed the St. Olaf game, is expected to return to action this Saturday to return to action this Saturday when the Vikings travel to Cornell College.

In looking ahead to Cornell, Roberts said the Vikes expect another tough game. Cornell has a 2-0 record and one of those wins was over highly regarded Grinnell.

"I didn't understand how Cornell could not be picked as one of the pre-season contenders," Roberts said, "and it looks as if they very well should have been."

Viking Harrier Team Records First Victory

The Lawrence University cross country team recorded its first victory of the season by downing St. Olaf College, 25-30, at Northfield, Minn. Saturday.

Tom Weum, of St. Olaf, took first place with a 22-28 clocking and Steve Sedgwick, of Lawrence was second in 23-10.

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Who holds the record for hitting the most home runs in World Series play? ... Record is NOT held by Babe Ruth ... It's held by Mickey Mantle, with 18.

Could you imagine the manager of a pennant-winning baseball team saying he didn't want his team to play in the World Series? ... Did you know such a thing once happened? ... It was in 1904 ... The Giants won the National League pennant but their manager, John McGraw, refused to let them meet the American League winner, the Red Sox ... And so, no World Series was played in 1904.

What was the strangest World Series ever played? ... How about the one in 1905? ... Did you know in that Series the Yankees scored 55 runs and the Pirates only 27, yet the Pirates won the Series four games to three!

Dallas' Reeves Earns Starting Berth With Good Reserve Showing

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS (AP) — Dan Reeves this week sheds the title of the most regular substitute in professional football.

He is leading the Dallas Cowboys in scoring and rushing and has done the most to keep them unbeaten through eight games.

In the words of offensive backfield coach Ernie Allen, he "comes up with a big play every game." Even Coach Tom Landry admits that "when Reeves goes in I'm not sure who's my starter."

But he got pretty sure of it Sunday as Reeves led the Dallas assault that felled Atlanta 47-14. "He has earned the right to be periority — on paper at least — and the earned run averages of the two staffs do nothing to destroy it. The Dodgers' staff has a 2.63 ERA and 52 complete games to a 3.35 ERA and 23 complete games for the Orioles' corps.

But while the Dodgers have the pitchers, the Orioles have the batters — and the No. 1 man of the year in that department is Frank Robinson.

Won Triple Crown
Robinson, who hit against Koufax, Drysdale and Co. last year as a member of the Cincinnati Reds, won the Triple Crown of batting this season in the American League with a .316 batting average, 49 homers and 112 runs batted in.

First baseman Boog Powell also drove in more than 100 runs, while third baseman Brooks Robinson knocked in 89. In addition, Powell hit 34 homers and Brooks Robinson and outfielder Curt Blefary 23 each.

The Dodgers, on the other hand, had only one player with more than 20 homers, second baseman Jim Lefebvre. Lefebvre hit 24 and topped the Dodgers in RBI with 74. Outfielder Lou Johnson drove in 73 runs.

Strong Bullpens
Both clubs have strong bullpens, with the Dodgers' three, consisting of big Phil Regan, Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller, and the Orioles relying heavily on veterans Stu Miller, Moe Drabowsky and Eddie Fisher, along with young Ed Watt.

Each club also has a problem — the Dodgers need a third baseman and the Orioles have to decide whether to make pitcher Steve Barber eligible.

Dick Schofield, who held down third base for the Dodgers during the pennant stretch after being acquired from the New York Yankees, is not eligible for the Series.

Kennedy or Gilliam
Alston's choice lies between sharp-fielding, light-hitting John Kennedy or 36-year-old Jim Gilliam, available as usual after starting the season as a coach.

Barber, Baltimore's most experienced starter, was on the disabled list Sept. 1 when the Orioles were required to pick 25 Series eligibles. If he is added now, another pitcher must be dropped. The Orioles have delayed a decision pending a report on Dick Hall's ailing arm.

"If Hall won't be ready, and we can't activate Tom Phoebus in his place," said Harry Dalton, director of player personnel, "then we'll want to have Barber."

Television Nationally
The first two games of the series will be played in Los Angeles starting at 4 p.m. EDT. Adcock said, "I think I still and will be televised nationally by NBC."

Friday will be an open date for travel and the teams will resume in Baltimore Saturday night and Sunday, then Monday if there are only 20 big league managerial jobs in the world.

"If the people haven't had enough experience decided by the teams that managing, so it's quite an honor to take another day off for travel and return to Los Angeles to decide if either the sixth or seventh game."

Adcock said he does not plan to be a playing manager.

"I know managers are tired

Adcock has been with the Indians before — in 1963 — when he played in 97 games — mainly as a pinch hitter. He spent three years with Cincinnati and 10 years with the old Milwaukee Braves.

He has a lifetime batting average of .277 and a total of 336 home runs. This past season he hit 18 homers, carried a .273 average and was credited with 43 RBI.

One of Eight
He is one of eight players in baseball history to hit four home runs in one game.

Cleveland Indians' President Gabe Paul described Adcock as "a dedicated baseball man, a fine fundamentalist," and predicted the former Angel will be "an excellent disciplinarian."

"We are willing to gamble that he will be an outstanding manager," Paul said.

Adcock warned his new team that he will be strict.

"I think there are a lot of mental errors made that shouldn't be and I'll try to improve that situation," he said.

Adcock succeeds Budie Tebbutt, who quit the Indians last season.

State Universities At Crossroads, Regents Are Told

Staff Suggests Alternatives of Specialty, Multi-Purpose Schools

BY TDI WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Bureau

MADISON — The state universities are at the crossroads of their development and must be shown which way to go in the future, the Board of Regents of State Universities has been told.

In a major policy paper presented to engender thought and discussion among the regents in the near future on the prospects for the development of the entire system, the staff of the state university administrative system points out that within the next few months decisions may be made that may determine the prospects for the nine-college system for the foreseeable future.

The nine state universities are "emerging" institutions, the regents were told, "institutions which are successfully shaking off the dust of the past and are moving into the future with vigor and enthusiasm."

The state universities have now reached a temporary period in which the flood of enrollments has abated somewhat, and it is time to reconsider which path they are to follow in the years ahead, the regents were reminded.

Spur by CCHE

A spur to such thoughts is being provided the state university system by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, which has indicated that it needs from each of the campuses and from the system an expression of aspiration for the future as part of statewide long-range plans being developed for public higher education systems.

Two roads are available to follow, the staff points out. One is the schools' traditional approach of designating specialty areas to specific schools, and allowing such a privileged area of monopoly to function unchanged by most or all of the other colleges.

The other suggests the fullest possible development of as much as possible on as many campuses as possible, so as to provide multi-purpose universities spread across the face of Wisconsin.

Such an "umbrella" approach to course work already exists somewhat, for many liberal arts courses must be repeated on all campuses to provide the well-rounded education in the liberal arts that is the hallmark of a college education.

Serious Question

But course work of the future may not develop along traditional lines, and a serious question exists, the regents were warned, as to what policy should be followed in the development of such future programs. "Population growth and rapid scientific-technological - sociological developments will decree that innovation, Even the offering of the new programs crossing disciplinary lines and even creating new disciplines will be required, approved by the CCHE before it becomes effective. The CCHE police education, urban affairs, computer science, medical-related specialties already are more be considered does have a bearing on state-wide needs for graduates with specialized talents.

"The allocation of such programs becomes of extreme importance," the board was told. The CCHE must view it as such as well. In light of that importance, the staff reminded the regents that such academic course development may reinforce the traditional policy of assigning some special areas to schools' particularly strong in those fields.

The board "must assess which institution has prime capability for fielding a particular program or state-wide import," the staff said. "It is possible that a new program proposal with state impact might be measured against the capabilities of all the state universities and not solely 'that institution submitting the proposal.'"

The CCHE interest will speed the regents to early action, and discussion of the problems might begin as early as the October meeting of the board. In the meantime, the system council of school presidents was instructed to forward suggestions to the board, as was the staff of the state university system.

Ceci Calls for 'Tough' Policy

Says Anti-Pollution Orders Need Strong State Enforcement

Louis J. Ceci, Republican candidate for attorney general, Monday night called for stringent enforcement of anti-pollution orders during a speech sponsored by the Outagamie County Federation of Republican Women at the Conway Motor Hotel.

Ceci pointed out that the state's new water management law provides that failure to abide by a pollution abatement order can be given to the attorney general in 30 days for enforcement proceedings.

Key Factor

A key factor in the successful operation of Wisconsin's water management program, Ceci said, "is an attorney general who is tough enough to follow up on anti-pollution orders."

"But if the attorney general fails to follow through," he said, "the whole purpose of the stringent enforcement section is defeated."

Ceci said the state water management law "is much tougher and much more effective" than federal legislation. He criticized Sen. Gaylord Nelson's proposal for an enforcement conference saying the conference "could substitute a 12 to 18 month waiting period for the 30 day waiting period we have now under state law."

Washington All Mixed Up Right Before Election

Everyone Contributes Opinions on World In General, President

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — For moving in, things getting mixed up, and elections five weeks away.

Last spring President Johnson talked of touring the country at every chance to seek its support. He made a few trips and speeches for Democratic candidates before Labor Day, and none since.

Then in September he said he would go this month — as the campaign heats up — to Manila for a conference with six friendly Asian and Pacific leaders, starting about Oct. 28. They would discuss the war in Vietnam.

But fellow Democrat and constant critic Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas belittled the prospect of much result from "such a cozy little group." He called the trip politically motivated.

Popularity Test

This might have seemed right up the Republicans' alley, but they quickly endorsed the trip and canceled out the chance hereafter of accusing Johnson of making the trip to avoid testing his popularity with the voters.

For one, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, leader of the House Republicans, brushed off presidential criticism.

All of the 384 scheduled flights were completed during the month.

dential efforts in campaigns. "Words from a President won't help anybody," he said.

And within the Democratic party, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey goofed a couple of times once with Johnson, once with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y., who has been more popular in the public opinion polls than Johnson or Humphrey.

Humphrey said, "President Johnson is a little more mature, responsible, and more in the public interest" than Kennedy. He tried to make up for this latter by saying he meant Kennedy has "a good deal more freedom of action."

Johnson Mum

He goofed with Johnson by indicating publicly the President wanted him as his running-mate again in the 1968 elections. But later Johnson wouldn't say yes or no when newsmen asked about it.

The Democrats, not one, big happy family, have other troubles.

In Maryland a two-term liberal member of Congress, Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, withheld his support from George P. Mahoney when the latter beat him for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Mahoney's main talking point was his opposition to open housing.

In Georgia, Rep. Charles L. Wellner, not in the governorship race at all, dropped out of the race for a third term in Congress after Lester G. Maddox won the party's gubernatorial nomination. He refused to support Maddox, an all-out segregationist, in the election race against a Republican. He can't stand what Maddox stands for.

Big Issue

Former Republican Vice-President Richard M. Nixon has listed war and inflation as this

District Conference Of PTA Scheduled
At Peshtigo Saturday

The annual fall conference of the eighth district of the Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers (PTA) will be held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday at Peshtigo High School.

Conference theme will be "Equalizing Educational Opportunities." Topics and speakers include: "Academic Goals and Opportunities," Miss Stella Pederson, dean of women, Stout State University; "Vocational Goals and Opportunities," K. W. Haubenschild, director of the Green Bay Vocational and Adult School; and "Administrations Goals and Opportunities," Lon Weber, dean of the Wisconsin State University-Marquette.

Workshop sessions are scheduled for the afternoon. Unit and council history books will be on display and PTA publications will be available.

election's two big issues. He's behind Johnson on the war but not the way he is handling it, he says.

But Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., says, "We are not going to make the war a political issue." And Ford said "whether it becomes an issue depends on the mood of the American people."

Republicans, critical of Johnson's handling of the war, want him to step it up.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said, "I would do anything that would bring the war to an honorable conclusion as rapidly as I could." Would he use nuclear weapons? He said, "I would not automatically preclude war and inflation as this

Some Men Over 26 to be Drafted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the previously deferred 26-35 year-old men who got past their 26th birthday or draft deferment found themselves called to military service after all.

Selective Service confirmed Monday night that it is ordering pre-induction physical examinations for all 26-to-35-year-olds who had deferments but are now classified I-A or I-A-O.

The national recheck could produce about 50,000 potential draftees — about one month's quota in terms of this month's draft call.

A man's draft liability normally ends at his 26th birthday. But he was deferred for any reason — often to continue his schooling — he is draft-eligible until age 35.

Deferments held past age 26 have in recent years meant draft exemption, because Selective Service has not inducted an unpublished move two weeks ago to give physicals to the remaining 41,780 men in this category. Under normal accept-

A spokesman for Outagamie County Selective Service Board No. 53 said today there is a pool of men 26-35 years old whose I-A and I-A-O deferment classifications are being reviewed. No estimate of the number was available. Those in the I-A-O classification are conscientious objectors who are available for service but will not bear arms.

At the same time, the spokesman advised those registered with a draft board to notify same of any change in status within 10 days.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez, in the 11th day of a wild rampage across tropical seas, attacked southeast Florida's glittering Gold Coast today with howling gales, torrential rain and wild surf.

Power lines snapped in great showers of sparks, traffic lights danced crazily and fell, and angry waves tore at the white sand beaches as the hurricane raked the coast from Fort Lauderdale to the Florida Keys.

Seawalls crumbled and crashed from all young surfing men while another board rider eventually have to call a privately deferred 35-year-old. The draft call for October is 49,200 men due to a recent boost of 2,000. The present November plan is to induct 43,700.

The Pentagon said earlier it expects a lower call in December since training of recruits does not begin during the holiday season.

First gusts Palm fronds, loose garbage cans and other small debris careened through sections exposed to the sharpest winds.

The first gust of hurricane strength, 75 miles an hour, slammed into Tavernier at the top of the chain of the Florida Keys at 8 a.m. Gales hitting a 60-mile clip hammered at the coast from Jupiter, north of Palm Beach, south to the Keys. But with top winds of only 85 miles an hour, Inez was no longer the monstrous storm she had been when she raged through the Caribbean, killing possibly hundreds.

In Key Largo, power failed at 8 a.m. Clerks in boarded hotels and bars, who had been through this many times before, trimmed and lit hurricane lamps.

Out of Danger Many of the 2 million residents of the area had gone to 35 miles west of Can Tho, in the bed believing they were out of danger. They awoke in the morning darkness to the napalm run against Viet Cong crashing thunder of wind and positions and was the 124th U.S. rain.

Frantically, they rigged storm shelters and rushed to stores that opened early to dispense

Strike Forces Chrysler To Send 38,000 Home

DETROIT (AP) — Five days after introducing its new cars, Chrysler Corp. today took action to lay off more than 38,000 workers across the country by Thursday because of a stamping plant strike.

The nation's third-largest auto firm said it may idle virtually all its hourly rated labor force by the end of next week if a United Auto Workers strike is not ended at Chrysler's biggest stamping plant, in Twinsburg, Ohio.

Meanwhile, 4,850 UAW workers struck the main assembly plant of Ford Motor Co. of Canada at Oakville, Ont., Monday.

Chrysler began plant shutdowns Monday by laying off 8,000 workers at its Hamtramck assembly plant in suburban Detroit.

Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler spokesman, said the company would be sending home 38,000 workers by Thursday.

Talks were scheduled to resume today at Twinsburg in the dispute over 14 unsettled grievances involving safety and production standards.

9,000 Striking GE Employees Return to Jobs at 2 Plants

Company, Union Officials Meet With Military Chiefs at Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 9,000 union employees began returning to their jobs at two General Electric Corp. plants today as the government pressed its effort to end a contract dispute that could affect the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam.

Local issues had prompted the walkouts at plants in Schenectady, N.Y., and Pittsfield, Mass. As the union employees returned to work, government and military officials arranged a Pentagon briefing for GE and union negotiators.

Eleven unions have threatened a nationwide strike in two weeks unless agreement is reached on a new contract.

Brief Officials Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the service secretaries are to brief company and union officials on what Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz calls "the vital importance of continued production at GE to the national defense."

Wirtz called the afternoon meeting a procedural session and said negotiations to end the threat of a nationwide strike against the huge defense producer will resume immediately after the talks — perhaps at the Pentagon.

GE manufactures aircraft and helicopter engines and other military items.

Johnson Request The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and 10 associated unions agreed Sunday to a request by President Johnson to postpone the strike for two weeks.

But some 20,000 of GE's 120,000 union employees walked off the job at four plants after their contracts expired at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Local union leaders said the strikes involved local issues and thus were not affected by national negotiations.

The first shift appeared for work today at GE's Schenectady, N.Y., plant where union leaders voted Monday night to end a strike that idled 23,000 employees Monday. The walkout involved 3,500 IUE members and 500 members of other unions.

Fred Borch, GE president, said after a meeting with three Cabinet officers Monday the strikers were returning to their jobs.

1,000 Dead in Civil Discord in Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — About 1,000 persons are believed dead following five days of tribal warfare in northern Nigeria, but the nation's military government claims the situation is under control.

The fighting between the northern Hausa tribe and Ibo immigrants from the eastern region erupted Wednesday and intensified over the weekend when northern soldiers and 300 civilians massacred about 300 Ibo in the city of Kano, 320 miles north of Lagos.

Under Control Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, head of the military government, expressed grief over the violence but told a constitutional conference at Lagos that the situation was under control.

The conference was adjourned until Oct. 24. Reports from the north said Kano was quiet Monday, with the city under a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Lt. Col. Hassan Usman Katsina, military governor of the north, reportedly has ordered army troops patrolling the city to shoot anyone caught molesting others or looting.

Better Educated The northern Hausa tribesmen fear that the eastern Ibos are trying to dominate Nigeria politically and militarily.

Many Ibos, generally better educated than the northerners, migrated to the north, where their training enabled them to dominate the skilled jobs.

Northern Nigeria has a population of about 29 million. Estimates of the Ibos there range from 300,000 to one million. Since tribal violence broke out several months ago, about 60,000 have fled back to their homeland.

What happened was this: When she left home on her vacation she took Flight 770 — route Los Angeles-Chicago-London. When she checked in to return home the ticket was put in the same envelope instead of a new one for Flight 771 — route London-Chicago-Los Angeles.

Mrs. Griffin, who has one daughter, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, is flying home, this time on Flight 771.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Foreign ministers from nine small nations conferred today in an attempt to put new life into a U.N. call for improvement in East-West relations in Europe.

The General Assembly gave unanimous approval last year to the proposal sponsored by the nine nations representing the Warsaw Pact group, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the neutral camp.

Secretary-General U. Thant hailed the plan as a "welcome indication of the progressive ending of what has become known as the Cold War." But the proposal has lain dormant for the past 11 months.

Destroy Barriers It calls for breaking down barriers to trade and cultural relations among countries of different political systems and for a return to the spirit of good neighborliness.

The nine sponsors are Belgium and Denmark for NATO, Sweden, Finland, Austria and Yugoslavia for the nonaligned group, and Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary for the Warsaw Pact. Their foreign ministers are in New York to take part in the assembly's general policy debate.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was returning to New York today to continue talks with various foreign ministers attending the assembly. It was considered likely he would discuss the nine-nation plan which the United States has endorsed.

Three Hurt In 'Prank' On Hayride

RIB LAKE (AP) — Three men were injured, two seriously, when three sticks of dynamite exploded on a rural road north of here during a weekend hayride party, according to Price County Sheriff Andrew Pich.

Pich said about 20 adults were on a long-standing annual hayride in a wagon pulled by a tractor when they spotted a "small fire" next to the road and halted to investigate. The dynamite exploded.

Bernard Strobach, 44, of Rib Lake, lost his right arm just below the elbow when the one and one-half pounds of dynamite exploded. Harvey Rhode, 50, of Rt. 1, Ogema, lost the sight of his right eye. Richard Gordon, of Rib Lake, was treated at a Rib Lake clinic and released.

The explosion occurred about one mile from the intersection of Highway 102 and Price County trunk YY at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Pich said the incident was "just a prank which backfired."

Drive Started Sunday

Allied Troops Closing in on Battered Communist Force

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American, Korean and Vietnamese troops drove from three sides today against a Communist force on which they already had inflicted a three-day toll of 478 killed or captured.

The allied troops kept up their pressure on a force of North Vietnamese army regulars and Viet Cong main force units operating in the mountains and lowlands near the coast of central Viet Nam 30 miles north of Qui Nhon.

The drive got under way Sunday when helicopter-borne troops of the U. S. 1st Cavalry Division (airmobile) launched the operation. Since then the Americans, hearing down from the north, have reported killing 291 Communists and capturing 131.

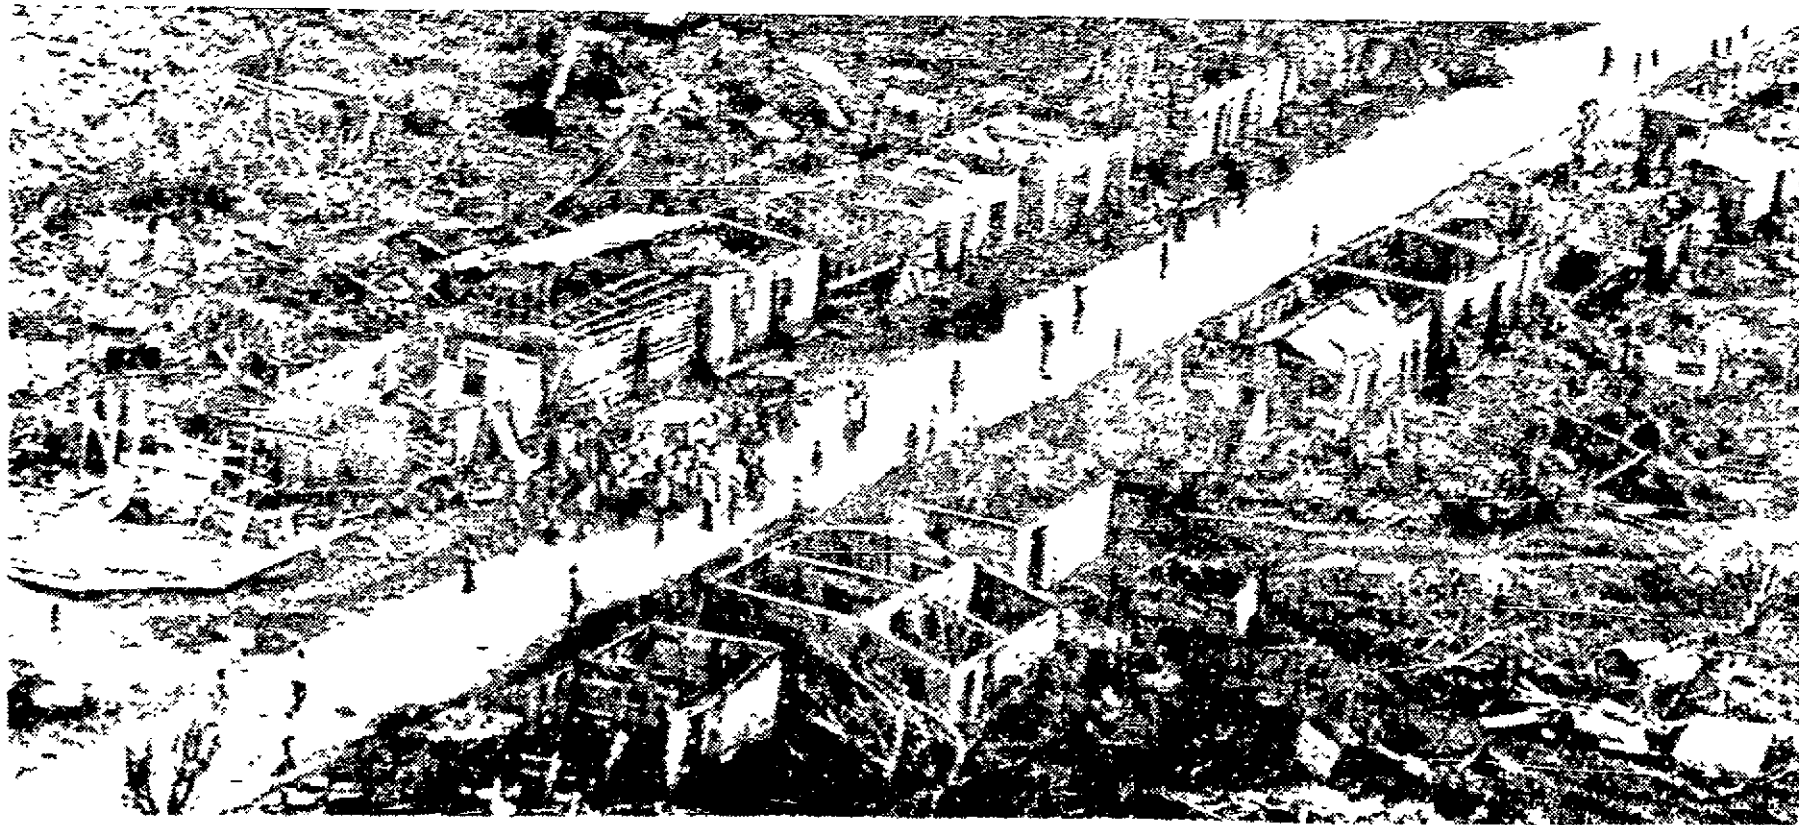

Tiger Division From the south, units of the Korean Tiger Division pressed northward in the Phu Cat Mountains and reported killing 52 of the enemy since Sunday.

From the west, South Vietnamese infantrymen and paratroopers worked toward the sea. They reported four Viet Cong killed.

U.S. and Vietnamese patrol boats waited offshore to intercept any of the hard-pressed Communists who might try to escape by sampans.

A U.S. spokesman said he did not know the size of the enemy force. In the initial contact Sunday, U.S. cavalrymen were opposed by an estimated 300 troops but the Communist force now is known to be much larger. One report said the North Vietnamese unit was the 610th Division.

Casualties Light U.S. casualties were reported light. Little action was reported elsewhere in South Viet Nam.

victims Sunday await supplies flown in by U.S. Navy helicopters from the carrier USS Boxer. (AP Wirephoto)

State Superintendent Speaks At Marion School Dedication

W. C. Kahl Says Event Means Change, Growth for Community

MARION — William C. Kahl, state superintendent of public instruction, told 500 persons gathered Sunday afternoon at the new $450,000 elementary school that dedication means change and growth and a continuous educational growth prospect of a future for the community.

After selections by the high school band, Mrs. William McInnis, program chairman, introduced Robert Richardson, staff assistant to Seventh District Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Marshfield. Richardson presented an American flag that had previously flown over the nation's capitol at Washington, D.C., to Marvin Hintz, school board president.

Leonard Morley, elementary supervisor and principal, introduced guests taking part in the program. Quentin Hoffman, Green Bay architect, presented the building to Terry Schlender, sixth grade student representative who accepted the facility on behalf of the city.

Four Challenges Kahl said there are four challenges to be met in the education process of a community.

The first is accepting change in various programs and methods, he said. "Communication developments have revealed great potential for making the instructional process more effective and efficient."

The second is the challenge of increasing financial investment in human resources, he said. "The development of our educational process should reflect a high degree of moral responsibility."

The third is the challenge of accepting change in various programs and methods, he said. "Communication developments have revealed great potential for making the instructional process more effective and efficient."

The fourth challenge pertains to the assumption of our individual role of constructive leadership and responsibility.

"People can generally be placed into three classes," he said. "The first group, representing a small minority, who make things happen, who create and promote new ideas; there are many who watch and wait for things to happen; and then the overwhelming majority, who have no idea what has happened nor do they seem concerned if anything happens."

The democratic way of life places the urgency of leadership to a degree upon each and everyone of us. The freedoms we cherish are not sustained by the efforts of a few, but the vigilance and desires of many," Kahl said.

Challenges which have been successfully met serve as guidelines and evidence in fostering continued improvement in education. The best is still ahead, and probably never achieved, Kahl said.

The program closed with tours of the building and refreshments served by the Marion Mothers Club.

Delay Action on Petition to Leave Stockbridge District

CESA 10 Awaits State School Study

CHILTON — The Cooperative Educational Service Agency 10 reorganizational school committee has withheld a decision on a petition for detachment from the Stockbridge School District and attachment to the Chilton district, pending a survey by the State Department of Public Instruction.

The committee, headed by Andrew Houwers, Sheboygan Falls, met Monday night to consider the petition, which was signed by 80 residents of the Stockbridge district.

The state department has been requested by the Stockbridge Board of Education to conduct the survey, which might lead to merger of the entire Stockbridge district with other districts in Calumet County.

Other Possibilities The CESA committee also asked that the survey include any other possibilities for merger.

The committee voted to recess until 8 p.m., Oct. 31, when it will convene with the Stockbridge and Chilton school boards to discuss the survey and answer the petition.

Houwers said all agency school committees have received directives from the state to work in their respective districts for reorganization into districts with approximately 2,500 school age children. Stockbridge presently has about 203 children in the public school, while Chilton's enrollment is 1,130.

The area which submitted the petition to CESA includes all territory south of County Trunk F and to the east shore of Lake Winnebago and a large area to the north. In 1965 the equalized valuation of this land was more than $800,000.

Embarrassing Situation A total of 68 children would be involved, although parents of only 12 were among the petition signers.

According to a spokesman against the petition, removal of

Steiger Says Race Clearly Playing Politics

Supports LBJ, Not District, Calumet Republicans Told

NEW HOLSTEIN — "Our congressman is not only playing politics with the post office and the taxpayer's pocketbook but is also playing politics with the people of the Sixth District," William A. Steiger charged Monday.

Speaking at a Calumet County Republican fund raising dinner, the GOP congressional candidate and three-term assemblyman said, "Congressman Race has voted more than two-thirds of the time in support of the Johnson Administration."

"I can clearly see why he is 'slipping, sliding and ducking' on such issues as the rising cost of living, the war in Viet Nam, and non-defense federal spending."

Near Total Support Steiger pointed out that the freshman congressman, according to a Congressional Quarterly survey, "gave LBJ almost total support in 1955 and only withdrew some of his support in 1966 because it seemed politically wise to do so."

He added, "It is obvious that our present congressman usually supports the Johnson administration and only changes his voting pattern when he believes he must do so to survive politically."

"What we need is government of principle instead of politics," continued Steiger.

"We need a congressman who will represent the Sixth District, not the President," he said.

Solon Questions Committee Actions

New London Council Bypassed in Personnel Study, Sale of Fill

NEW LONDON — An alder for the expenses incurred by man here charged at Monday's city committee of the whole meeting that some council committee actions were in excess of committee authority.

In particular Ald. Grace Stern (3rd) took exception with the Board of Public Works selling truckloads of dirt fill to private parties and with the personnel committee's hiring of a person to study salaries paid to all city employees.

She said the city should not be hauling fill in competition with private business. Mrs. Stern also questioned the sale price of the fill, reportedly 50 cents per load. The cost didn't even pay

There are a number of places in the city that could have been filled, she added. She cited low areas to be filled for mosquito control and the city dump as two areas.

She was told the Board of Public Works had quit hauling fill to private property but the practice had continued during the summer.

Mrs. Stern also questioned hiring a person for a wages and hours study without council approval or notification. The recently organized personnel committee aid the hiring.

Mayor Harry S. Emans said the committee has authorized hiring the woman to perform the study. It will cover all salaries and hours worked by city employees, he said.

He said it would be used in current union contract negotiation with city street department employees. It will also be useful in determining salaries, increases and the work load for other employees, he said.

Medicare requirements and a general improvement of patient care at Outagamie County Hospital and Golden Age Home have caused hiring additional personnel and formation of a formal medical staff at the institutions, according to John A. Engle, superintendent.

Four physicians have been named to the active staff at the hospital and home. Approximately 50 "courtesy staff" doctors are listed as well, Engle said. "We have formally had a medical staff. We hope this will provide a higher level of patient care in the hospital and home," he said.

Courtesy staff doctors, representing approximately two-thirds of the county's doctors, are those who have expressed an interest in serving patients at the institutions should the utilization review plan which occasion arose, Engle said by will be effective Jan. 1, 1967.

1,415 Planes Use Outagamie County Airport

CAP Squadron Conducts Survey Of August Traffic

Traffic at the Outagamie County Airport for the month of August was 80 per cent above traffic for the same month last year, the county board's airport committee was told Monday.

The Fox Cities Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol conducted the survey from Aug. 1 through Aug. 31, which showed that 1,415 airplanes, including 1,110 private craft, used the airport. Air Wisconsin flights were included in the count.

The CAP was hired by the county board, at a cost of $466, to make the study. It was the first official survey of air traffic at the new port.

Adverse Weather
Airport committee members, meeting this morning, said the large increase in traffic was especially significant since adverse weather conditions held flights to a minimum several days in August.

The CAP survey included data on the make of aircraft, model numbers, number of male and female passengers, aircraft owners, where the plane was based, where flights arrived from and the destinations, the number of times a particular pilot has used the local airport, and the purpose of the flights.

In other action this morning, the airport committee approved the leasing of a tractor from Griesbach Equipment Co. of Appleton. The tractor will be used for general airport work, including mowing and snow plowing.

Lightning Shatters Chimney at School

Damage Extensive to Structure on Appleton's North Side Monday

Workmen using a huge crane boats and a cruiser were blown are expected to complete instal- ashore by 40-mile-per-hour lation of a new chimney by winds. High wave warnings Thursday morning at Jackson were posted for Lake Michigan School, where lightning struck and Lake Superior in the face of Monday afternoon, shattering a winds up to 58 m.p.h. major portion of the old, brick chimney.

The extensive damage at the this year lightning struck the public elementary school on the Jackson School chimney. Early city's north side represented the last summer, a corner of the 20-most serious destruction foot-high structure was ripped brought by a storm that struck away during a storm. The portions of the state Monday, damage had not been repaired. Lightning also caused minor because a contractor could not be secured.

Lightning, which struck about 1:15 p.m., Monday, peeled the outside layer of brick from the 10-ton chimney, and fractured the inside brick facing, according to Kenneth Schmidt, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the city's public schools.

The concrete cap was moved four inches off the chimney and a half ton of brick was hurled to the school grounds. Two cars parked about 35 feet away were damaged. The rear window of one car was shattered and the truck was damaged on another vehicle.

School in Session

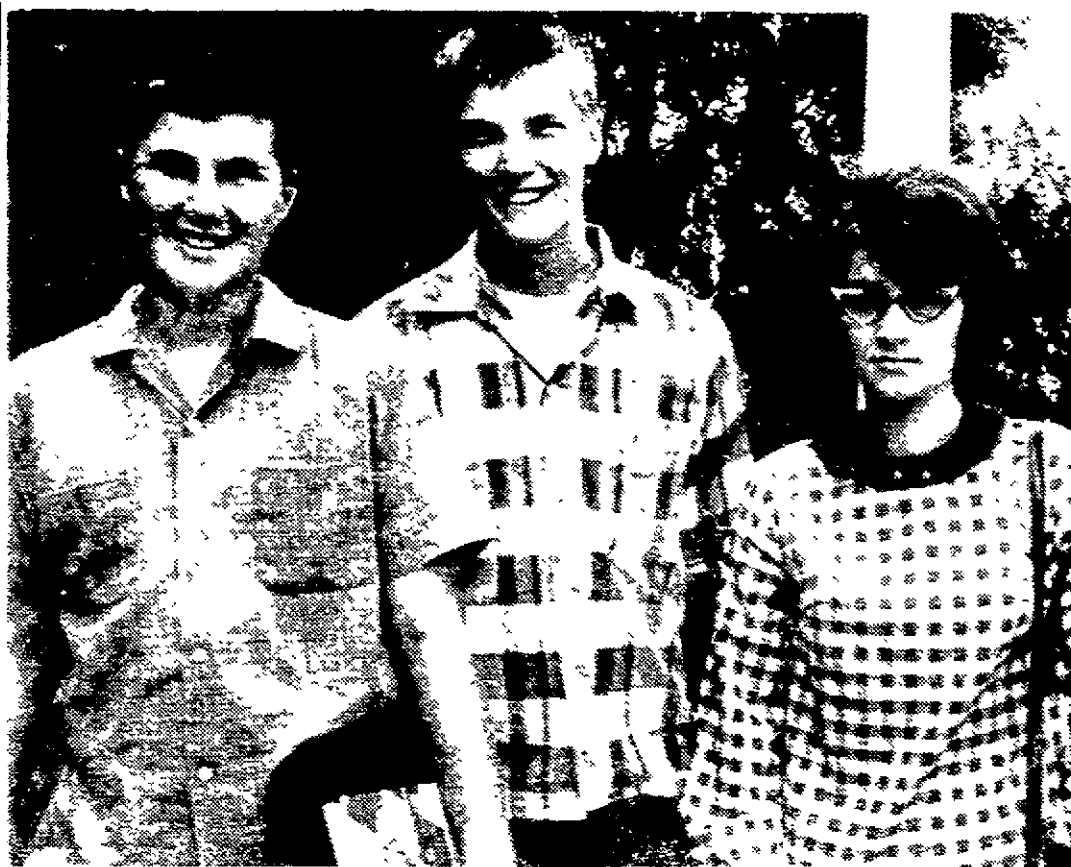

"It's a blessing none of the children were on the nearby playground when the lightning struck," Schmidt said. School was in session at the time. The blast shook windows throughout the building. Classes continued while the entire area below the chimney was fenced off, Schmidt said.

Fire department inspectors made a thorough check of the building, but found no fire.

The chimney "was rendered completely unsafe" by Monday's lightning strike, Schmidt said. Falling bricks punctured holes in the roof of the old building, but the extent of roof damage will not be known until the chimney is razed and bricks are removed from the roof area.

Razing Begins Schmidt said damage is covered by insurance.

Award Contract To Plan UW At Green Bay

Milwaukee Firm Selected to Design NE Campus

MADISON — Contracts have been signed by the State Department of Administration to initiate master plans for the Northeast University of Wisconsin in Green Bay.

The J. G. Daverman Co., Milwaukee, has been awarded the contract.

Estimated cost of the planning will be between $30,000 and $35,000 according to State Bureau of Engineering spokesmen.

Included in the plans will be the complete development of the site including the location of projected buildings, placement of roads and sidewalks and all steam, water, sewer and power facilities.

No Construction No actual construction work is provided for in the contracts. Funds for development of the master plan will be drawn from $400,000 allocated for planning purposes by the 1965 Legislature.

The spokesman indicated that further planning developments are expected within a week. At a meeting of the State Building Commission scheduled Oct. 10, the University of Wisconsin will request authorization to sign contracts for the actual design of buildings needed for a 1969 opening date.

The university has expressed a need for four classroom and office buildings and a "surge" building to handle administration and overflow activities by that date.

Moderators Robert Mortensen, legal advisor for the association, was moderator for the panel discussion on annexation. Kenneth Schnicker, director of Washburn County, was the moderator for the panel on health and welfare.

close to one third of the school population would create an embarrassing situation for the district in light of the $200,000 building expansion recently carried out. This would virtually cripple the district's plans, he said.

Persons signing the petition felt Chilton offers the better educational opportunities for their children. Some of them now pay tuition to send their students to the Chilton High School.

Mrs. Gerald Ludwig, speaking for the petition, said her children, who attend Chilton High School, feel they have to work hard to catch up to Chilton standards, but are glad to be obtaining a better education.

It was pointed out that Stockbridge has only 10 teachers on its high school staff, while Chilton has nearly three times that number. Many subjects offered each year in Chilton are offered only every other year at Stockbridge.

Discussing the problem with the school boards following the public hearing, Houwers said, that ideally reorganization, should come from the local level.

A. W. Larson, spokesman for the Chilton board, said Chilton never has attempted to "recruit" students from any of the fringe areas, but any who want to come are welcome.

A Stockbridge board spokesman said he was unwilling to see students leave the school district. He said that with the building of the new addition, it is felt the district is "set" for the next five or six years, and that a satisfactory education is being offered to pupils.

The Backlash Shows Up

There are several indications that the so-called "white backlash" which failed to materialize to any degree in the 1964 elections is developing in several parts of the country. And its primary result is political triumph for opponents of integration and other civil rights reforms.

The most notable victory is that of Lester Maddox in a run-off election with Ellis Arnall for the Democratic nomination for governor in Georgia. Arnall is the one-time moderate progressive who toppled old Gene Talmadge, red galluses and all, from the governor's chair more than twenty years ago. Maddox was the besieged restaurant operator who closed up shop rather than permit Negroes to dine in it. His campaign did not stress segregation as such but rather the dangers of socialism.

The Democratic nomination for governor of Maryland was won by George Mahoney, an outspoken foe of open housing legislation. His beaten opponent, Representative Carlton Sickles, has charged that it was an emotional appeal to racism that elected Mahoney.

Meanwhile the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has come under attack in both houses of Congress and not only from southerners, for the guidelines it has evolved in the desegregation of schools and hospitals and for the way it has used those guidelines. While some of the charges, such as that of Congressman Rivers of South Carolina, are ridiculous in their name-calling, others are more moderate and thoughtful. A congressman from Illinois is concerned that proposed busing will destroy neighborhood schools. Senator Mike Mansfield says that the HEW has gone "too fast" in enforcing Title IV of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Whatever the impossible living conditions in big city ghettos and however much the various outbreaks of rioting and looting have been the work of irresponsible and criminal elements regardless of race, certainly the violence has been an important factor in these political developments. Dr. Martin Luther King, making once again a plea for nonviolence, said that reaction against the rioting is showing up at the polls. Less noticeable so far but nevertheless important has been the slowdown of activity for civil rights among northern white liberals.

There is no real relationship between the desegregation of schools and hospitals and riots in the cities. But the fears of black violence are given added importance by the riots, especially when statistics of crime rates among Negroes are compiled. That there are all sorts of reasons for those crime rates — including the dehumanizing effects of living under the conditions of inferiority — is ignored in the appeals to fear and prejudice.

In reality a strongly segregationist state official can primarily only throw up stumbling blocks to integration as Governor George Wallace has done in Alabama. But the appeals to fear are serious since violence is the direct result. And such appeals are equalled at the opposite pole by the "Burn, Baby, Burn" advocates who stir up hatreds and violence in the name of civil rights.

How much real reaction to civil rights pressures and the problems of big cities will develop or be sustained in the November elections is a mystery. There is bound to be some and out of it may come more responsibility in the long run on both sides. Even Lester Maddox cannot really turn back the clock in generally moderate Georgia.

Apartment Dwellers Penalized

Inconsistencies in the Johnson Administration's emergency stop-gap program to manage our present highly volatile economy have already been pointed out in these columns. At the same time that Congress is asked to pump $4.7 billions into the home building industry, the Administration also recommends that the 7 per cent investment tax credit on new plant and equipment be repealed and that accelerated depreciation schedules be suspended. In other words building of private homes is good for the economy and is to be encouraged, but building by private industry must be discouraged.

Another group of people who are caught in the middle of this government muddle are apartment house dwellers and those who build and invest in commercial rental property. For accelerated depreciation applies to apartment buildings as well as to factories and stores, and not to exempt apartment developments from the suspension will take away from investors in such projects what the government is trying to give them through additional mortgage money.

The rise in interest rates on mortgage money is resulting in rapidly rising rental rates on apartment units. The higher interest rates are making it much tougher to finance new apartment construction, and a shortage of apartment units is rapidly developing in many cities. Rental rates are being increased $5 to $15 per month each time a new tenant comes in.

Now investors in apartment buildings are to be further penalized by denying them accelerated depreciation rates for tax purposes. The difference amounts to as much as 15 per cent on the value of the building.

With Congressional elections only a month away, the Administration refuses to take the basic steps necessary to head off run-away inflation, reduce domestic spending or raise income taxes or both. Instead it suggests haphazard measures to clamp down on particular segments of the economy, and at the moment the segment getting it in the neck is the progressive business which wants to expand.

But if the Administration policy is to prevail, and if the home building industry is to get a government handout, Congress might as well include apartment house construction along with individual home building. For generally it will be the young marrieds who will suffer most from a shortage of apartment units.

People in Rye Have a Point

The people who live on "the most blighted block" in Rye, N.Y., have a point. Some $750,000 in federal urban renewal funds was requested for the area, but the residents have asked the government to keep its money.

They say they would rather do it themselves. And apparently they are. They formed what they call the Rye United Improvement Committee, and have already torn down eight uninhabited cottages in the blighted area. This, they say, was done at their own expense. In addition, they say they are going to clean up and generally spruce up the area.

The block contains 52 former summer cottages, most of which have been converted for year-round use.

The reason the residents have rejected the idea of federal aid is one of basic economics—it is cheaper in the long run for them to finance their own kind of urban renewal than to accept $750,000 in federal aid. This is because if their area were to become the center of an urban renewal project, their homes would be torn down and new ones—ones they couldn't afford—would be constructed in their place.

There is something wrong when the government would spend $750,000 on refurbishing an area, and then it would no longer be within the price range of the former residents.

One thing wrong is that the former residents would move to an area they could afford, presumably a neighborhood similar to the one they left.

And the people who lived on the old "most blighted block" now would live on the new "most blighted block" in Rye, N.Y. They have a point.

Normal School at Platteville

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 4, 1866.

We hope that the notice below will lead some of our young men and women to go to the State Normal School, just opening at Platteville, under the charge of Prof. C. H. Allen, whom every one that loves school knows so well and esteems so highly.

It is fortunate for Wisconsin that Charles Allen has come back with us again.

Notice is hereby given that the State Normal School at Platteville will be opened by the Board of Regents of Normal Schools, for the reception of pupils, on Tuesday, the 9th day of October next. (Editorial note: The regulations for admission are given below in excerpt).

1. Each Assembly District in the State shall be entitled to six representatives in the Normal schools, and in case vacancies exist, they may be filled by the president and secretary of the Board of Regents.

2. Candidates for admission shall be nominated by the County Superintendent, or by the city superintendent if the county superintendent holds no jurisdiction, in which such candidate resides. The candidates shall be at least 16 years of age, of sound bodily health and of good moral character.

3. The candidate shall be examined under the direction of the Principal of said school in the branches required by law for a third grade certificate, except History and Theory and Practice of Teaching. The prospective student must subscribe to the declaration that his or her purpose in entering the State Normal School is to fit himself for the profession of teaching with the expressed intention of teaching in the schools of the state.

4. No person shall be entitled to a diploma, who has not been a member of the school for which the diploma is granted, at least one year, nor who is less than 19 years of age. A certificate of attendance may be granted by the principal of the school, provided that, in his judgement, such certificate is deserved.

5. To all persons found qualified to enter the State Normal School, if residents of this State, tuition is free. The object in establishing these institutions is to provide qualified teachers for our public schools.

Poverty Program on Local Level Could Become Republican Asset

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The congressional debate on the poverty program this year provides further evidence of a new approach to public welfare that is finally coming to supplant the now outworn philosophy of the New Deal. It also reveals that in the politics of poverty there is a great gap between local and national leaders.

Kraft

The New Deal approach featured centralized government action to help poor people and communities. Washington developed programs for insurance, public works, job training and relief. Funds were shelled out either directly by federal bureaucrats or indirectly by these bureaucrats to local officials. The state was the doctor, the individual the patient — and, in some cases, the victim.

The political advantages of that system, particularly to congressmen, are obvious. It gives congressmen the maximum opportunity to intervene on behalf of their constituents with appropriate government agencies.

Thus every political organization that has survived — and notably the organization of Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago — has had as a cornerstone of its power support for New Deal programs. And, similarly, every major department doling out welfare

Roemer, Agnes Jolic and Charlotte Klemm.

LaVerne Gebheim, Menasha, was elected president of Equitable Reserve Association Juniors. Others elected to office were Verla Bergholz, vice president; Betty Cumber, secretary; Phyllis Wormwood, treasurer; Harold Krueger, warden; Mary Karweick, assistant warden; Ruth Bell, guard; Barbara Bell, Joan E. Becker, Harold Reizner and Kenneth Reizner, the four Smiths. Irene Bushman was the immediate past president of the group and Gloria Van Handel the adviser.

Presenting the program for the Girl Scout leadership training that week were Mrs. Rudolph Vogt, Mrs. David Owen and Mrs. P. J. Kerr.

Carl Bertram was named general chairman of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce publicity committee. President M. O. Knoke announced that day.

Two Appleton young women, Miss Jeanette Beelen and Lt. Lois Eberhardt, Army Medical Corps specialist, passed national examinations qualifying them to practice occupational therapy. Both were graduates of the University of Wisconsin.

funds — whether Labor, Agriculture or Health, Education and Welfare — has become deeply subject to the influence of powerful congressmen or groups of congressmen.

LOCAL EMPHASIS

The new approach features direct participation in the formation and administration of programs by groups of local citizens. Thus Community Action Programs in the War on Poverty are largely run by local councils with direct representation of the poor.

These local councils decide on the allocation of funds among a wide shopping list. They can, for example, choose a Head Start program, benefiting pre-school children; or a Neighborhood Youth Corps, putting teen-agers to work on community projects; or a health services center; or a center for legal services; and so forth.

To a large extent, moreover, local people have a voice in running the programs they have chosen. For instance, in the health services center due to be set up in Watts, the troubled Negro ghetto of Los Angeles, the neighborhood council will have the right to fire doctors it finds unsatisfactory. In the center of legal services—established in Houston, the neighborhood council has the right to fire lawyers it finds unsatisfactory.

This local emphasis has an obvious appeal for local political leaders. And now, after some early fears that community action would feed political opposition, city halls across the country have lined up behind the poverty program.

WASHINGTON IN THE COLD

The local support includes not only well-known Democratic players of welfare politics such as Mayor Daley, but also even some conservative Republicans. Indeed, because of the emphasis on decentralization and in line with a recent article in Life magazine by Hugh Sidey, the Republican mayor of Tulsa, Okla., J. M. Hewley has said of community action that "this is a Republican program, if we only had the brains to know it."

But local control leaves Washington politicians out in the cold, particularly congressmen whose bread and butter has been intervention with federal agencies on behalf of constituents. And the debate on the poverty measure in the House of Representatives this year has largely turned on efforts by congressmen of both parties to get back in the game of welfare politics.

The Republican proposal which has been defeated would have vested most of the programs now in Sargent Shriver's poverty agency in old-line departments that are so responsive to congressional pressure. The liberal Democratic bill approved by the administration also moved to recapture authority for Washington by fixing floors on amounts available for particular poverty programs — not less than $496,000,000 for the Neighborhood Youth Corps, for instance, not less than $352,000,000 for the Head Start program and so forth.

What this suggests to me is that national political leadership has not yet caught up with the requirements of the new approach to welfare. There is a vacuum waiting to be filled by younger political leaders — particularly by Republicans.

Building Highways Is Serious Business but It Has Lighter Side

John Wyngaard, Madison correspondent, is on vacation and has arranged for a series of guest columns to be published during his absence. Contributors will include prominent figures in Wisconsin governmental and political affairs.

BY GEORGE BECHTEL

MADISON — Building highways is a serious business but it has lighter moments.

Some of the humor of the past is recalled in a series of "living history" interviews of individuals now or formerly prominent in highway management, promotion and construction, which are now being conducted by State Highway Commission personnel.

For example: A former district engineer recalls a demonstration of the then "revolutionary" new snow removal equipment in the early 1920's that was so effective it promoted legislation that restricted its use!

This all came about when the snow-removal equipment salesman moved into a northeastern county just about the time that a blizzard blew in while the board of supervisors was in session.

WORKED FULL DAY

The salesman, feeling that this was the time for a practical demonstration, worked all through the first day of the board's session removing snow from the county's roadways.

On the second day, he appeared before the board expecting to receive high praise and a big order. Instead, the supervisors resolved that there would be no more snow removal in the county without the board's official permission in advance.

It was then the salesman realized that most of the supervisors had driven to the board meeting in horsedrawn buckboards. The bare pavement that greeted them as they returned home from the first session hardly made smooth sledding for travel or sales.

The same engineer recalled a 1920 inspection which discovered a boulder in the middle of a section of highway near Green Bay. The engineer brought the boulder to the attention of the maintenance patrolman responsible for the section.

THERE A LONG TIME

"Yea, I know. Been there for a long time," the patrolman said. "It darn near knocks me off the grader every time I go over it."

The boulder was soon removed from the highway. The patrolman was removed from the job.

Another veteran recalled two experiences involving nearby states.

Working in Nebraska, before starting his Wisconsin career, this engineer built an eight-mile stretch of highway and, for want of better material, surfaced it with hay.

The hay, he said, made a good smooth roadway for the traffic, then composed mainly of Model T's.

But the eventual happened. A car backfired and eight miles of highway went up in smoke.

"That's really 'burning up the highway,'" the veteran chuckled.

The other experience proved that the 1917 adage, "It is harder to get lost in Wisconsin than to find your way in most other states" didn't always hold true.

The Illinois Highway Commission, hearing of Wisconsin's efforts to mark routes for motorists, called the Milwaukee office to arrange an inspection trip.

VISITORS IMPRESSED

Marking was not quite complete in the Milwaukee area but all hands turned out to complete at least a well-defined line to Milwaukee. Arriving without mishap, the visitors were duly impressed.

But the homeward impression was different. Instead of following the quickly marked highway, the Illinois decided to take a different route home. It wasn't marked and they spent hours in the ensuing darkness — completely lost.

These experiences — as well as more serious, significant recollections — are now in the Commission's historical file.

Seven state highway pioneers have been interviewed. Three more interviews will complete a test run and if commissioners approve, following a review of the results, the series will be continued on a part-time basis.

George Bechtel, a former newspaperman, is the public information officer of the Wisconsin State Highway Commission.

Negro Like a Child? We Don't Treat Him So

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I don't believe those white people who are fond of repeating that "the Negro is just like a child." Not only don't I believe that the Negro is just like a child; I don't believe that those white people believe it either.

Harris

Because if the Negro is just like a child, why hasn't he been treated as well as we treat a child? If he is not quite up to the rest of us — a little slower or duller — why haven't we treated him as we treat the slowest or dullest child in the family?

If the parents have any sense or feeling, what do they do with a child who is behind the others? Why, naturally, they treat him better than the others, to try to make up the difference.

They give more sympathy, special tutoring, extra considerations. And, surprisingly often, this "dull" child turns out to be just as smart as — and much nicer than — the others.

But we in America have done exactly the opposite with the Negro. If we sincerely believed he was slower than the rest of us, and we all belong to the family of man, we would have honored our obligation to give him the most help and understanding, as we would a child.

Instead, we have used his alleged "inferiority" first to enslave him, then to break up his family, then to deny him a decent education and livelihood, and make him fit for nothing but servile work.

Many of the unattractive things that white people say about the Negro are undeniably true. But they are true because we have made them come true.

If you treat someone under your control like a dolt, he will react like a dolt; treat him like an animal, and he will respond like an animal; treat him as an object of contempt, and he will become filled with a self-contempt that must sooner or later erupt in rage, hate and violence.

If we are so insecure that we cannot treat Negroes as equals, let us not pretend it is because they are like backward children — for we treat our backward children with love and patience, encouraging them in their schoolwork, making the biggest fuss over their achievements, and trying to provide them with the greatest security for the future.

If we were willing to do for the Negro what we are willing to do for the retarded, we might find that we are not dealing with a backward child at all, but with a flawed and deprived adult who is capable of all we are capable of — and perhaps much more, having suffered so long, having patiently borne the full measure of man's inhumanity to man.

Viet Nam War Stand Hurting Mark Hatfield

Oregon Candidate For Senate Listed
As Among the Doves

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

PORTLAND, Ore. — Whatever the outcome of Republican Governor Mark Hatfield's campaign for the U. S. Senate, the vote here Nov. 8 most certainly will not be a solemn referendum on Viet Nam.

Public sentiment on that score is already clear. Politicians of both parties now agree that a

Evans Novak

soft line on Viet Nam is politically self-destructive even in liberal, un-warlike Oregon. If Hatfield's political career and the national promise it still holds is to survive 1966, he must win not because of but in spite of his anti-Viet Nam position.

Because of that position, Hatfield — once regarded a sure winner — is probably a slight underdog today. His own secret polls show him exactly even with Rep. Robert Duncan, a two-term Democratic congressman running statewide for the first time. Duncan's unpublished polls give him nearly 53 per cent to a little over 47 per cent for Hatfield.

This does not connote any miraculous surge of popularity for jaunty, colorful Bob Duncan, whose face remains unfamiliar to Oregonians. His strength is really anti-Hatfield sentiment, spawned since Hatfield will not and cannot change his stance on Viet Nam, he must change the subject in order to win.

Stand Ironical

Otherwise, he will be plagued with the albatross of Viet Nam about his neck, and herein lies an irony. Ever since his election as the boy wonder governor and his takeoff as a dark horse presidential possibility, Hatfield (now 44) has been criticized for failing to take a stand on tough issues. Now, he faces catastrophe for taking just such a stand.

Although close advisers councelled him against it, there was a political rationale when Hatfield journeyed to Arizona and Texas early this year for anti-Viet Nam speeches. Rep. Edith Green, far more extreme a dove than Hatfield, then seemed the most likely Democratic senate candidate. But Duncan, a down-line LBJ man, entered instead of Mrs. Green. By midsummer, Hatfield's stubborn opposition to Viet Nam had become a liability. It approached disaster Aug. 6 when Hatfield — without advising his staff — joined maverick Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse in signing a newspaper advertisement urging "immediate steps to disengage our country from this fateful military adventure."

New support opened up for Hatfield: liberal intellectuals from the universities, Harry Bridges' leftmost Longshoremen's Union, Morse himself

But such gains are dwarfed by losses, estimated today by one party leader as one in every four registered Republicans.
The catalyst of Viet Nam has ignited smoldering resentments against Hatfield among conservative Republicans — against his pro-labor positions, his national ambition, his debonair elegance.

Morse Linkage Bad

Worst of all was the linkage of Hatfield with Morse, evil incarnate to Oregon Republicans since he switched parties in 1953. Was Mark Hatfield, Republicans asked each other,
another Wayne Morse?

Now, Hatfield seeks to put the pieces back together. He patiently explains how his moderate criticism of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy has little similarity to Morse's vituperation.
His Viet Nam statement lasting 10 minutes in short form produces a good crowd reaction. After first resisting the idea, Hatfield has decided to go on statewide television in mid-October to explain his position.

But one incident such as happened Sept. 27 in Portland wipes out all such efforts. As television cameras showed peaceniks demonstrating against Vice President Humphrey's appearance, a demonstration termed "disgraceful" by Hatfield, the pickets cheered when a car with a Hatfield sticker went by. "That cost a thousand votes right there," grumbled a Republican leader.

In fact, with every prominent Oregon Republican opposed to his Viet Nam views, Hatfield must somehow remove the Viet Nam issue from center stage and replace it with the inflation question.

One morning of campaigning recently showed Hatfield's problem. At Oregon City High School near here, two out of three questions from the students involved Viet Nam. Following that, the host at a coffee hour in the Portland suburbs suggested that the governor discuss Viet Nam. For that morning the people had kept the albatross around Mark Hatfield's neck.

Venice Plans Anti-Rat Drive

Crafty Rodents
Scare Cats, Elude Conventional Traps

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Venice plans to launch a massive year-long campaign this month against a growing plague of rats so tough they frighten cats and so clever they sneer at traps.

These are no ordinary rats.
They come from an island used as the city dump and more and more of them have been swimming over to Venice to take up residence.

Hygiene officials say the garbage dump rats are so big and mean that the canal city's famous cats, traditionally considered Venice's best antidote, run away from them. The rats also have become wise to rat traps and are seldom caught by them.

Poisoned Food
City Hygiene Commissioner
Vito Chiarelli has assigned 600 city employees to distribute to every house, store and office in Venice morsels of food prepared with rat poison. Under the plan, poisoned food will be left inside all buildings in hope the rats will carry it off to their hiding places for themselves and their offspring.

Chiarelli feels this campaign, carried out systematically for 12 months, will succeed if Venetians cooperate. The 600 members of his antirrat brigade will be equipped with special identity cards and the mayor's office will issue an appeal to all citizens to open their doors when the rat killers come calling.

Women Winning Battle For Equality in Jobs

BY SYLVIA PORTER

You, the pregnant working wives of America today, are starting to win the battle against widespread job discrimination by your employer solely because of "your condition."

You, all America's female employees, are starting to win the battle for equality in employment with your male counterparts.

We, 26,000,000 working women, married or single, young or middle-aged, are beginning to

Porter

achieve employment gains on an unexpectedly broad front.
The gains range from the privilege of insuring our dependents just as men workers insure theirs to the right to receive equal pay for equal work.

On July 7, 1965, Title VII of the Civil Rights Law of 1964 went into effect, barring discrimination in employment on the basis of "race, color, religion, sex, or national origin."

Sex Discrimination

Of all these well-known forms of discrimination, against which has the greatest progress been made since?

On that of sex.

In view of the fact that "sex" was included almost as an afterthought in the historic 1964 act, I wouldn't have guessed this result. But this is the startling finding of a recent survey of 423 companies employing 954,000 workers made by Prentice-Hall in conjunction with the American Society for Personnel Administration to measure progress in compliance with Title VII since mid-1965.

Item: More than three out of 10 companies have made personnel policy changes to reduce or eliminate discrimination on the basis of sex.

Item: The most common change gives maternity leaves to pregnant employees. Until mid-1965, it was commonplace for employers to require a pregnant employee to resign and to exclude leaves for maternity specifically from leaves of absence granted for various personal reasons.

Other Changes

Item: Listed in order of frequency, here are the most common changes. Women now allowed to include husbands as dependents under group life or medical insurance policies; court costs.

male-female seniority lists eliminated in plant; sex no longer mentioned in job posting; women allowed to smoke at desks;
male-female retirement ages equalized; increase in amount of group life insurance for women.

Of course, this is only a beginning. Many companies still won't give women employees maternity leaves "in view of the Equal Opportunity Commission's vague guideline on the matter." Many employers say flatly they'll continue other policies which may technically violate Title VII (for instance, they give women automatic raises and men merit raises; provide men with uniforms but make women provide their own.)

But it's progress nevertheless.
A full one-quarter of the companies have eliminated one or more "male-only" jobs. Typical blue-collar jobs that have, for the first time, been actually filled by women since Title VII are: Production welder, machinist, timekeeper. Office jobs opened to women include: chief bank teller, computer operator, underwriter.

Women Are Aware

What's more, the companies admit that women are becoming more aware of their rights under the Civil Rights Law and have been increasing their complaints to personnel managers.

Illegal job discrimination, particularly on the basis of pay, persists on a massive scale. The division between "men's jobs" and "women's jobs" continues wastefully arbitrary.

But in a single year, the barriers have started to come down to a perceptible degree.
This was hardly the prime goal of Title VII, but to us who are working women today, it's a most welcome by-product.

New London Man Gets Probation On Battery Count

WAUPACA — Milton Palmer, 23, 306 State St., New London, pleaded guilty to aggravated battery and was placed on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for two years when he appeared Monday before County Judge Wendell McHenry.

Palmer was arrested Aug. 21, by New London police after he struck James Hughes, 21, 501 S.
Pearl St., New London, with a heavy object during a fight.

In addition to placing Palmer on probation, Judge McHenry ordered that he pay Hughes'

German Role In Defense of Europe in Doubt

Troop Withdrawal Could Upset Erhard's Shaky Government

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON LONDON (AP) — A crisis is shaping up for the West over the defense of Europe and West Germany's role in it. A series of related developments threaten withdrawals of Allied forces from the heartland of the Continent.

In the view of British authorities, this could bring instability to West Germany where Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government already is in difficulties. It also could eventually shift West German policies closer to those of President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Senior officials in Prime Minister Harold Wilson's administration are looking to President Johnson, who has called for an early American, British and West German reappraisal of whatever Communist threat exists in Europe, the forces needed to meet it, and ways of financing the Allied effort.

British Reservation

The British are stressing one reservation about Johnson's proposal.

They fear smaller member-states of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization may see it as a substitute for those organs of the alliance such as Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, SHAPE.

Wilson has advised the President of British readiness to take part in the three-power talks. A precise American proposal is awaited on the time, place and scope for them.

Among difficulties facing NATO are these factors:

The British insist they will cut back their 51,000-strong Rhine army by 1967 unless the West Germans supply the whole $250 million foreign exchange cost of maintaining that force. This does not mean Bonn paying Britain's bills, but arranging somehow for the British to earn enough money in Germany to ease the strain on foreign money resources. The Germans thus far have declined to offset more than about 40 per cent of the bill. If this is their final word, the British vow the Rhine army will be cut so that it uses up no more than about $100 million in German marks a year.

Such a British cutback would weaken NATO's trans-European barricades. Its political effects could be far-reaching.

As Allied diplomats see it, such an action would add to congressional pressures in the United States to reduce the 400-000 to 450,000 American servicemen in Europe.

Officially the Johnson administration has set its face against reductions at this time.

It has its own foreign exchange troubles. It learned from Erhard this week that the West Germans feel they cannot afford to offset the whole of the American bill through a program of dollar-spending.

Another peril to NATO lies in De Gaulle's power to threaten the withdrawal of 72,000 French troops from West Germany unless Erhard and the other allies accept his terms for keeping them there.

Since the French decision to withdraw from NATO's military system, the 14 other allies have resolved not to give De Gaulle a privileged position in the alliance. They want French troops in Germany fitted into an effective pattern of military cooperation with their own.

ABC-TV Plans 6-Hour
Treat for Young Fry

'Holiday Cartoon Festival' Scheduled
For Network Children's Day Nov. 25

BY JINGO Nov. 25 should be an unprecedented pro-gramming decision. ABC-TV will pre-empt all of its regularly scheduled daytime programs — with the exception of "Where the Action Is" — for a "very special" six-hour "holiday treat" for children, when it presents the "Holiday Cartoon Festival" in color, Friday, Nov. 25.

Jingo

The special day after Thanksgiving programming will begin at 10 a.m. and continue through 4 p.m.

This kiddie treat, or parent's nightmare, was explained by Edwin Vane, ABC-TV National Director of Daytime Programming. "During the past season ABC-TV has been the proud leader in the area of children's programming. In our desire to continue and maintain this position, we believe that Friday, Lucille Ball, in London filming a CBS-TV special for Oct. 24, has discovered (as Professor Higgins keeps saying in "My Fair Lady") that the English must learn to speak English.

After lunch, she said to her head waiter, "I'll have tea." Before he went and got it, the waiter patiently explained to the colonial that to the English, an order for tea doesn't mean a drink, but rather an afternoon meal, with watercress sandwiches and everything. Lucy has now learned that if all you want is a drink of tea, you ask for a pot of tea.

A Spicy Fable
'Valley of the Dolls'
Should Top $2 Million

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jacqueline Susann, who admits she is a poor speller, also made a slight error in arithmetic early this year.

She estimated then that her first novel, "Valley of the Dolls," might earn as much as a million dollars.

"Now I figure it will gross at least $2 million, and it should go much higher than that," said the pretty, dark-haired actress turned author.

Jacqueline Susann

Jackie's spicy fable of the price paid for success by four lovely ladies in the entertainment jungles of television, Broadway and Hollywood has been a runaway literary sensation as well as a personal bonanza.

Printing orders for the hard-cover edition of the novel have gone past the 350,000 mark. The book has been sold to the movies. 15 foreign editions have been arranged, and 1 1/2 million paperback copies will be distributed in 1968.

No. 1 Book
But Jackie is proud of the fact that her novel has been No. 1 for 22 consecutive weeks on a best seller list.

"I am the only girl who has been up there that long whose book wasn't a selection by a major book club."

Her nearest rival, "Peyton Place," by Grace Metalious, also ducked by the book clubs, never was first on the list for more than 18 straight weeks.

Miss Susann has a ready explanation as to why the book clubs ignored her maiden fiction production. She thinks they are a bit stuffy, if not sissy.

"Book clubs don't go in for violence or sex unless they're in a spy story," she said.

Publicity Campaign
Aided by the promotional skill of her husband, Irving Mansfield, a television producer, Jackie has put on perhaps the most extraordinary one-woman publicity campaign in literary history. She figures she has worth of feed grains, $1 billion made 100 radio and television worth of wheat and $1 billion appearances and, like the jacket worth of soybeans.

HEMORRHOIDS?

New formula works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief!

In clinical tests of new M.P.O. — an advanced treatment for hemorrhoids (piles) — doctors reported "results were good to excellent" for 5 out of every 6 patients. M.P.O. works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief.

1. Helps ease pain faster. You get more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients, including Benzocaine, than in the preparation you may now be using.
2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephedrine Sulfate, to reduce swelling.
3. Relieves embarrassing itch. M.P.O. is homogenized for faster absorption, faster relief.
4. Gives longer relief. A more temperature-stable base holds medication in place, prolongs re-lief-bringing action.
5. Fights danger of infection. Proven germ-killer Hexachlorophene combats bacteria.

M.P.O. is a development of Mentholatum Laboratories. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

Lamas and Mineo Star
On 'Combat'

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7:30 Channels 11-6-9 — Combat presents one of its most pro-French episodes to date with "The Brothers." Fernando Lamas and Sal Mineo are the siblings of a proud family which spits at death and collects medals like the Croix de Guerre. Lamas, you quickly gather, is the braver of the two, a warrior who will never say die. With considerable prodding he enlists Sal into aiding a dangerous reconnaissance mission headed by Vic Morrow, who wishes both would "cool" their bravery. All this leads to tragic finale.

6:30-7:30 Channels 4-5 — The Girl From U.N.C.L.E.'s latest masquerade is that of a wig-gling belly dancer who ducks whistles and bullets. April drops from a helicopter onto a speeding European train. Her mission: to save a slinky Mala Hari. Before she has a chance, there's an explosive wreck, and our girl must take on the identity of Mala.

7:30-8 Channels 11-6-9 — Jay Silverheels, once Lone Ranger's faithful Tonto, stirs up a heap of trouble on The Rounders. How? By buffaloeing Ron Hayes and Patrick Wayne into selling him a nervous bison, one which stampeded through the town of Hi-Lo.

7:30-8:30 Channels 2-7-12 — The Red Skelton Hour once more has its star playing George Appleby, the henpecked spouse in a trim, but obvious comedy sketch, he gets the attention of Godfrey Cambridge. Jackie and Gayle provide the musical interludes with "The Mood I'm In," and "I'm in a Dancing Mood."

8-10 Channels 4-5 — Rock Hudson and Doris Day are another sensitive performance playmates in "Love Come as the psychotic youth."

Back" on Tuesday Night at the Movies. And need we say more? The two are Madison Avenue rivals. When we first see Miss Day she is in a pout over Hudson's unscrupulous tactics in cornering the advertising game. But before she knows it, he has her cornered — or so he thinks. It's a splashy romp, aided by Jack Oakie, Edie Adams and Jack Kruschen. A 1962 release.

8-9:30 Channels 11-6-9 — The Pruitts of Southampton offers a doughy episode with "Phyllis, The Cookie Tycoon." Besides displaying some of the wilder comments of Phyllis Diller on life in the kitchen (she has opened up a bakery with her leftovers — ha, ha, ha, ha) it sinks into just another battle between her and her nose-y tax man.

8:30-9 Channels 11-6-9 — Love on a Rooftop continues to be one of the more pleasing comedy series of the season with "The Six Dollar Surprise." Our young domestics are concerned with Dave's birthday. Next door neighbor Stan, is concerned with catering parties for children. And too much eavesdropping spoils the cake for all.

9-10 Channels 2-12 — The National Sports and Physical Fitness Test asks viewers to ponder question like, "Does middle age begin at 40?" Besides quizzing you, the program also presents Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and Norm Sneed of the Philadelphia Eagles, plus other athletes, testing their strength and speed. Harry Reasoner is the moderator.

9-10 Channels 11-6-9 — Once again The Fugitive is accused of a murder he didn't do. This time, operating under the guise of an apartment building janitor, he is accused of slaying a young girl. Pointing the finger at him is Rosemary Murphy, who plays an overly proud mother trying to protect her own son. Robert Drivas gives Hudson and Doris Day are another sensitive performance playmates in "Love Come as the psychotic youth."
